THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

GOSSIP ABOUT THE PROCEEDINGS.

Scenes in and about the City.

Serenade to Mr. Hamlin in Washington—His Speech in Acknowledgment.

Voice of the People and the Press in the North.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Friday, May 18, 1860.

Time flies quickly, and wise men work with the motto before them that "Time is money." This has been preëminently the case with the Convention which met on Wednesday in the Republican Wigwam of this city, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States.

Long ere this reaches you, the telegraphic communication of your special correspondent has informed you that the deed is done;—that on the third ballot the Convention determined to place the standard of the party in the hands of ABRAM LINCOLN.

The developments of last night showed that the friends of SEWARD were devoted to him and his interests, and that they would stick to him so long as there was the faintest hope of success. The leaders were very sanguine of victory. THURLOW WEED said he "was sure of success." Mr. EVARTS said their "victory was certain, and would be rapid." A meeting of the opponents of SEWARD was held, at which efforts were made to harmonize the conflicting elements. The friends of LINCOLN, CAMERON and BATES were there, but after a protracted session, nothing being accomplished, they adjourned. This morning the Wigwam was as full as ever. Every one knew by intuition that the hour was approaching which would settle forever the fate of Mr. SEWARD, and would be pregnant with good or evil for the party, whose representatives had thus solemnly met. After some unimportant business, on motion, the Chair decided that it was in order to proceed to ballot, and that nominations were in order.

Mr. EVARTS, of New-York, Chairman of that delegation, presented, in a few brief sentences, the name of WM. H. SEWARD, of New-York.

The announcement of Mr. SEWARD's name drew forth thunders of applause, and it was evident that his admirers might be counted by thousands inside the Wigwam, an exponent of his great popularity throughout the country.

Mr. JUDD, of Chicago, begged leave to suggest the name of ABRAM LINCOLN, of Illinois.

If Mr. SEWARD's name drew forth thunders of applause, what can be said of the enthusiastic reception of this name? I have never seen anything which compared with it. The greetings which JENNY LIND or GRISI or LA GRANGE received at Castle Garden or the Academy did not begin to equal that which I now record. Ten thousand people were in the Wigwam, and the crowd without could not be numbered. The vast throng rose simultaneously, hats and handkerchiefs were waved, cheers and hearty hurrahs were given, and the air seemed full of some magnetic influence, which moved all alike to exhibit to the full extent their powers of lung and length of wind. The President rapped and ordered silence, but in vain. The audience, like a wild colt with bit between his teeth, rose above all cry of order, and again and again the irrepressible applause broke forth and resounded far and wide. The crowd outside took it up, and cheer after cheer from them indorsed the sentiments of their brethren within.

After this scene was concluded, the names of other gentlemen were mentioned, and received with some applause, but all was cold when compared with that which greeted the names of those above. The balloting, as telegraphed, was then commenced. At the close of the second it was evident that something was in the wind not known to outsiders generally. Quietly I wandered on towards the Pennsylvania delegation. There I heard, "Drop CAMERON," "Defeat SEWARD," "Unite on LINCOLN," "Perhaps get REEDER or HICKMAN as Vice." I heard enough to warrant me in saying to a distinguished member of the New-York delegation that "Pennsylvania would change front on the next ballot." He shook his head and smiled so complacently that I was at sea again, and not knowing what to think, I kept still and didn't think at all. The call of the roll proceeded—"Pennsylvania, 2½ SEWARD, 1 CAMERON, 2½ McLEAN and 48 for ABRAM LINCOLN," was the announcement from the Chairman of that delegation, and then I knew that LINCOLN was nominated and SEWARD, like CALHOUN, like CLAY, and like WEBSTER, was slaughtered in the home of his friend, and that expediency had done for him what it always has done for the great men of this confederacy. The various States changed their votes so that with the exception of New-York all voted for LINCOLN. Mr. EVARTS claimed the floor. Mounting a table, with grief manifest in his countenance, his hands clenched nervously, and every nerve quivering with excitement, he delivered one of the most interesting and able speeches I have ever heard from him or any one else. As he feelingly and affectionately described his friend and leader, detailing his efforts in the cause of the Republican Party, and claiming for him that credit which is so eminently the due of Mr. SEWARD, the spectator could not fail to be impressed with the idea that a man who could have such a friend must be a noble man indeed, and that this token of unswerving devotion to principle and friendship was preëminently honorable in the eloquent speaker. In conclusion, he moved that the nomination be made unanimous. This was carried, and after some delay the Chair announced feebly and not with much spirit, that ABRAM LINCOLN was the choice of the Convention for their candidate for the office of President of the United States of America.

I have described one

and cannot describe another. It was like the first, only more so. A huge cannon was wheeled up to the door, and bang it went every half minute for seventeen minutes steady. Some one brought in a large crayon portrait of Mr. LINCOLN and carried it, like the Host, up and down the platform. The Illinois, Indiana and Ohio delegates seemed wild. They acted like madmen. One smashed his hat on another's head, who returned the compliment, which was followed by a mutual embrace. HENRY G. LANE teetered up and down on a chair, not saying a word, but grinning all over his expressive countenance, while he waved in a huge circumference a tile, damaged somewhat from its frequent contact with the head of a fellow delegate. At every discharge of the cannon, the cheering would break out anew, and the wildest confusion reigned, which occasionally would reach such a pitch as to send the blood tingling through one, and stir up the fountains of his sympathies as the storm arouses the seas of the great deep.

No human body could attend to business after such a scene, and the Convention adjourned to 5 o'clock this afternoon. It will be too late for me to send anything by this mail. The particulars of the nomination will be sent by telegraph and you will have written half a dozen articles thereon before this reaches you. Nevertheless, I shall, for my own individual fun, take the liberty of guessing, and of recording a bet made just now, that the ticket will be either LINCOLN and HICKMAN or LINCOLN and BANKS.

Since the adjournment there has been a grand Lincoln demonstration—a Lincoln mass-meeting and serenades without number. The rooms of the Massachusetts Delegation are directly opposite mine, and GILMORE's band is now in there playing "When Swallows Homeward Fly." The rooms of the Pennsylvania Delegation are "round the corner," and the Pittsburgh band strikes up "Hail Columbia," after which the "Light-guard band" of Chicago, which is stationed in the Hall below, gives us the benefit of the "Star Spangled Banner;" so you see we have pretty lively times, and all that quiet which is so desirable when a man is sleepy and fagged out as I am, or when he has a letter to be written and mailed in half-an-hour, as I have. The halls are filled with politicians, all laboring for an end. Everybody has been or is drinking, but I have not seen a drunken person since my coming here. Though there is great confusion and a great deal of loud talk, there is no ill-nature visible and no single row has occurred since the Convention sat.

I should be glad to continue, but for three good reasons I must close:

1. The mail closes in five minutes.
2. Convention meets in twenty minutes.
3. I am physically exhausted.

As old Plumb Gut used to say, when he wrote those fearfully and wonderfully made Republican leaders, in 1856, "That's all."

HOWARD.

VIEWS OF THE RHODE ISLAND DELEGATION.

ENTIRE HARMONY AMONG ITS MEMBERS.

RICHMOND HOUSE, CHICAGO, Friday, May 18, 1860.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your issue of May 15, your Chicago correspondent says:

"The Rhode Island delegation was originally half Republican and half American. Since the Baltimore nomination the Americans have bolted, and some trouble is experienced in filling the vacancies."

This is not true. There was but one vacancy in the Rhode Island delegation to Chicago, which was all Republican—the one gentleman who declined alone supporting the recently-elected Governor.

There was no trouble whatever in filling the one vacancy, inasmuch as the gentleman who declined intimated a willingness to return; and the delegation were only embarrassed by the number of those who not only had strong claims for the appointment, but who would gladly have served. The vacancy was filled in Rhode Island a week before the delegation left, and none existed when the above paragraph was penned. Yours,

R. R. HAZARD, JR.

REPUBLICAN DEMONSTRATION AT THE CAPITAL.

SPEECHES OF HON. HANNIBAL HAMLIN, REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR VICE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES—ADDRESSES FROM SENATOR TRUMBULL AND MESSRS. CAMPBELL AND WASHBURNE.

From the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 19.

At an early hour the Republican Association of this city was all alive, in consequence of their determination to serenade Hon. HANNIBAL HAMLIN, nominated at Chicago as the candidate of the Republican Party for Vice-President of the United States. Mr. HAMLIN occupies rooms at the Washington House, which was illuminated from garret to cellar.

At 9½ o'clock the procession arrived in front of the hotel, and was greeted with three lusty cheers. After the inspiring air, "Hail to the Chief," so familiar on similar occasions, had been performed by the band, loud calls were made for Mr. HAMLIN.

Mr. B. B. FRENCH then came forward on the balcony, amid a number of ladies and gentlemen, and said:

MY FRIENDS: I have the pleasure of introducing Senator HAMLIN, who has been nominated at the Chicago Convention to be one of the standard bearers of the Republican Party. [Loud cheers.] We all know how well he will bear that standard. He has become almost a citizen among us. He has been here a number of years, and my friends, we mean to keep him here four years from the 4th of March next. I now introduce him to you.

SPEECH OF HON. HANNIBAL HAMLIN.

Mr. HAMLIN then came forward, amidst great cheering, and spoke as follows:

FRIENDS AND FELLOW CITIZENS: Concurring with you fully in the great principles which have united us in political association, I am pleased to meet you on this occasion; and I unite my voice with yours most cordially in a tribute to a common cause. You have assembled to congratulate each other upon the doings of our recent Convention at Chicago, the result of which has come to us over the telegraphic wires. Of that position which has been assigned to me, you will allow me to say, that while I feel profoundly grateful for the honor it confers, and am duly sensible of the obligations it imposes, it was neither sought, expected, nor even desired. But as it has come unsolicited, it leaves me no alternative but to accept the responsibilities which attach to it, with an earnest hope and endeavor, that a cause more important than any man, will receive no detriment at my hands. But you have come to pay a tribute to our standard bearer, who has been taken from the Great West, where the star of empire is culminating, if it has not already culminated; a man of comprehensive and vigorous intellect, and fully equal to the position designated. The architect of his own fortune, he comes to us most emphatically a representative man; not only a representative man as an able and earnest exponent of Republican principles, but as identified with the laboring and industrial classes. Having from early life, to the maturity of manhood, devoted himself to physical labor, he can, as he does, but feel a keener sense of the rights of labor. He stands before the country, too, with a high moral character, upon which even a suspicion was never breathed, and with a political integrity above reproach. The objects desired by the Republicans in the pending election, and the obligations imposed upon our candidate, are, to bring back the Government to the principles and practices of its fathers and founders, and to administer it in the light of their wisdom and example; to aid our commerce, to send it out upon distant seas, and to prepare for it havens in its distress and on its return; to infuse new life and energy into all the productive and industrial pursuits of the whole country—for we must not forget that the prosperity of every country must repose upon productive industry. Labor it is, and labor alone, that builds and navigates our ships, delves in our mines, makes music in the workshops, clears away the forest, and makes the hillside blossom as the rose. It maintains our Government and upholds the world in its prosperity and advancement. Surely then, it should challenge and demand its rights of the Government it thus sustains. To preserve the integrity of the Union, with the full and just rights of all the States, the States themselves not interfering with the principles of Liberty and Humanity in the territories of the United States, outside their own jurisdiction, and to preserve our original territorial domain for the homesteads of the free:—these are the great principles which we have united to sustain and advance. That done, our Government will remain a blessing to all, and our country a refuge in which the man of every creed and every clime may enjoy the securities and privileges of institutions of Freedom, regulated only by law.

SPEECH OF MR. CAMPBELL, OF PENN.

After music from the band, Mr. CAMPBELL, member of Congress from Pennsylvania, was introduced. He said: I claim the right to express the sentiment of my section upon the nomination recently made at Chicago. [Cheers.] I want to say, first, my State is Union-loving and conservative to the core. She believes that the mission of this great Republic, as originated by the fathers, is one of peace and liberty; but that this Democratic Party now in power has been arrayed against liberty, the Revolutionary precepts, right, and the interests of the country. [Applause and laughter.] She has, therefore, looked around her for some other man, and has heard that a citizen of Kentucky, born on her soil, a pioneer of the Western wilderness—she has heard of the nomination of ABRAM LINCOLN with unfeigned gratification. [Applause.] She believes that ABRAM LINCOLN is the man for the time, and marches breast up with the advancing wave of civilization and liberty. He then went on to eulogize the platform upon which he stands, which he (Mr. CAMPBELL) said protected the iron interests of Pennsylvania, and would build up her manufacturers, and pledged the Keystone State to the nominees of the Chicago Convention.

From the Washington House the band and the attending crowd proceeded up Pennsylvania avenue five hundred strong, and thence up Eighth-street to the quarters of Senator TRUMBULL, opposite the general Post-office. About half the crowd were Democrats.

SPEECH OF SENATOR TRUMBULL.

Senator TRUMBULL being introduced to the meeting addressed it in an earnest and somewhat lengthy speech in support of the great work done for the Republican Party at Chicago. He had known ABRAM LINCOLN for twenty years. A native of Kentucky, he was brought over when an infant into Indiana. Thence, with his axe on his shoulder, he went into Illinois, where he hewed his way into distinction. He studied and for a time practiced the business of a land surveyor, then he entered into the study of the law, and rapidly rose to the high distinction of the ablest lawyer in the Northwest. They call him "Old ABE," said Mr. TRUMBULL, and yet he is in the prime of life—about 51 years old. He is a giant in stature, six feet three inches high, and every inch a man. [A Voice—"Not high enough to be President."] Yes, high enough to be President, and he will be President. [Hurrah.] He is a giant, and without the prefix of "Little" to it. [Hurrah.] A giant in intellect as well as in stature. I tell you, my friends, that the prairies of Illinois are all ablaze to-night with the fires of enthusiasm. Mr. TRUMBULL then explained, that in the Illinois contest of 1858, while DOUGLAS carried the Legislature LINCOLN had the popular vote by four thousand majority; and he will more than double it in November. I tell you he will make a clean sweep of every State west of the Alleghanies. ["How about poor old SEWARD?"] Mr. SEWARD is a statesman and a patriot, and his whole heart is with our great cause.

Mr. TRUMBULL continued for sometime longer, amidst frequent interruptions from the outsiders, cheers for DOUGLAS, inquiries for JOHN BROWN, &c., &c. Finally, Mr. TRUMBULL called for "Three cheers for LINCOLN and HAMLIN," which were heartily given, followed by "Three for TRUMBULL."

SPEECH OF MR. WASHBURNE, OF ILLINOIS—ATTACK ON THE MEETING.

Hon. ELIHU WASHBURNE, of Illinois, was next introduced to the meeting, and in a bold, clear, strong voice, was entering upon a eulogistic sketch of the life and character, public and private, of Mr. LINCOLN, when a few stray brick bats and stones fell in among his audience, from the direction of the Patent Office, when instantly there was a stampede in the opposite direction, the musicians of the band being among the first to take to their heels. The steadfast Republicans immediately about the doorstep stood their ground, and presently some of Mayor BERRETT's police came up and told the speaker to go on, for that the meeting would be protected.

Mr. WASHBURNE meantime maintained his stand upon the stoop, and in a few minutes, comparative order being restored, he resumed his speech, saying that when the time had come that a public meeting on public officers could not be held in the Federal capital without a riotous disturbance, it was time for a sweeping reform which would drive these lawless parasites from the footstool of power. Mr. WASHBURNE concluded with a high eulogium of Mr. HAMLIN, when the meeting, after a round or two of cheers, quietly dispersed.

RECEPTION OF THE NOMINATIONS.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE REPUBLICAN JOURNALS.

From the New-York Tribune.

While Mr. LINCOLN's position as a Republican renders him satisfactory to the most zealous member of the party, the moderation of his character, and the conservative tendencies of his mind, long approved and well known of all men in public life, commend him to every section of the opposition. There is no good reason why Americans and Whigs, and in short all who are inspired rather by patriotism than by party feeling, should not rally to his support. Republicans and conservatives, those who dread the extension of Slavery, and those who dread the progress of Administrative and Legislative corruption, may be assured that in him both these evils will find a stern and immovable antagonist and as impassable barrier. At the same time, as a man of the people, raised by his own genius and integrity from the humblest to the highest position, having made for himself an honored name as a lawyer, an advocate, a popular orator, a statesman, and a Man, the industrious and intelligent masses of the country may well hail his nomination with a swelling tide of enthusiasm, of which the wild and prolonged outbursts at Chicago yesterday are the fitting prelude and beginning.

We need hardly say that the election of Mr. LINCOLN, though it cannot be accomplished without arduous and persistent efforts, is eminently a thing that can be done. The disruption of the Democratic Party, now perhaps less likely to be repaired than before his nomination, the fact that he was put forward by one of the doubtful States, Illinois, and nominated in great measure by votes from two others, namely, Pennsylvania and New-Jersey, the universal desire of the country to settle the vexatious Slavery question in accordance with the views of the Fathers—all these are powerful in behalf of the Chicago ticket. But, as we said, efforts must be made. The organization must be perfected in every State, in every county, in every district. Tracts and newspapers must be disseminated. Public discussions must be held. The people must be animated, enlightened, inspired with a sense of the solemn duty resting on all patriotic citizens. Thus the great victory may be achieved, and the country may be redeemed from the pernicious influences that are hurrying it to ruin. Americans! Republicans! Shall not all this be accomplished?

From the Courier and Enquirer.

We need not tell our readers that WILLIAM H. SEWARD was our first choice, and that our labor has been that he should be the nominee of the Chicago Convention for the Presidency. The Convention, however, has decided otherwise, and we bow to the decision—bow with the greater cheerfulness inasmuch as although Mr. SEWARD, whom we consider the first great representative of Republican principles, has been defeated, we have, in the nomination of Mr. LINCOLN, no expediency candidate, but one who early embraced the Republican cause, has always labored consistently for its success—has, from the beginning, stood, and stands now, fair and square on its national and conservative Platform. We have only further to say, Here are two eminent statesmen, whose honesty of purpose, purity of character, and fidelity to National Republican principles are unquestioned, claiming the support of the people of the United States, in opposition to a sectional and corrupt Democracy. Let that support be given heartily. Go at once to work for them, and they and their principles shall triumph. Our own best exertion shall be given for their success, and given in confidence and hope.

From the Albany Evening Journal.

It would be idle to attempt to disguise the disappointment which the people of this State feel at the failure of the Chicago Convention to place in nomination for President the candidate of their own State. But there can be no doubt that the nomination which was made is regarded as the very next choice of the Republicans of New-York. No other man, besides their own favorite, so well represents the party in the great struggle now going on, as ABRAHAM LINCOLN. They remember that he boldly proclaimed on the stump in 1858:

"I have always hated Slavery, and I always believed it in course of ultimate extinction. If I were in Congress, and a vote should come up on a question whether Slavery should be prohibited in a new Territory, in spite of the Dred Scott decision, I would vote that it should."

These sentiments in New-York are invincible. The platform adopted is based on the same doctrine. No lower ground would have satisfied the Republicans in city or country.

That he is a thorough and hearty Republican himself we need not reiterate. The following extracts from his speeches in 1858, among many other similar sentiments expressed by him at the time, leave no room to doubt his entire fidelity to the great principles of our party:

"I believe that the right of property in a slave is not distinctly and expressly affirmed in the Constitution."

In regard to the "irrepressible conflict," he said:

"In my opinion it will not cease until a crisis shall have been reached and passed. 'A house divided against itself cannot stand.' I believe this Government cannot endure permanently, half slave and half free. I do not expect the Union to be dissolved—I do not expect the house to fall, but I do expect it will cease to be divided. It will become all one thing, or all the other. Either the opponents of Slavery will arrest the further spread of it, and place it where the public mind shall rest in the belief that it is in the course of ultimate extinction; or its advocates will push it forward till it shall become alike lawful in all the States—old as well as new—North as well as South."

From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

Where then, lies the path of duty? Mr. LINCOLN is nominated by a powerful party. His success is more than possible. It has strong probabilities in his favor. If he is not personally objectionable, if there is no reason in the man himself, why he should not merit the support and indorsement of honest national men, then it is the plain duty of every old Whig and American who hopes to do anything for his country in this campaign to come up squarely to the flag and pledge to ABRAM LINCOLN all the aid and comfort which a true man's help can give him. Mr. LINCOLN has not that long experience in public service which we could have wished, but he has something better in the strong, sagacious mind, cool and unshaking nerve, and intelligent familiarity with public measures which lie at the bottom of all true statesmanship. We conceive it to be our duty to place the names of LINCOLN and HAMLIN at the head of our columns, as a pledge that we will extend to them such honorable and faithful support as may belong to our position and influence.

Not the least important result of the Chicago Convention is the final defeat and discomfiture of WM. H. SEWARD. We will not permit ourselves to utter one word of insult which might add to the bitterness of spirit with which Mr. SEWARD and his especial friends must regard this calamitous fall of his ambition, at a moment when he seemed about to grasp the fruition of so many years of labor and watchful care. But the event is too prominent, its consequences too weighty, to be passed by in silence. * * * Delegates could not fail to recognize the difference between the two men, and the strongest argument employed against Mr. SEWARD was that his election would transplant THURLOW WEED and his lobby from Albany to Washington, and entail disgrace upon the party from the day it entered into power. Said a prominent Republican, yesterday—and he spoke the sentiment of thousands—"We owe Mr. SEWARD everything; he founded the party, and built it up to greatness; our debt to him is incalculable; but we wont pay it in hard cash to Thurlow Weed."

From the Rochester Democrat and American.

The great mass of our Republican friends had set their hearts upon the nomination of WILLIAM H. SEWARD. They believed him more worthy than any other man. They knew him eminently fit for the Presidency, and that for more than twenty years he had unflinchingly advocated the principles so dear to every Republican. But dear as he was and is to them, they cheerfully trusted to the wisdom of the delegates of the entire party to decide upon the most expedient nomination. The decision has been made after long and anxious deliberation, and we have no doubt that in the minds of those who voted for Mr. LINCOLN there were controling reasons for preferring him even to the peerless statesman of New-York. We respect their judgment, and bow to it without a murmur.

From the Troy Whig.

The nomination of Mr. LINCOLN will disappoint the country, and for this reason. A very large and influential class of men in the Republican Party have long sincerely desired a union of the whole opposition, and to accomplish that, have been urging the nomination of such national and unobjectionable men as BATES and MCLEAN, in preference to any man thoroughly identified with the Republicans. This class of men have failed in their object by this nomination. Mr. L. is distinctively a Republican, but not the Republican which the Bates and McLean delegates would have preferred, in the event of a defeat of the policy to nominate a compromise and conservative man.

From the Newark Mercury.

We need not say that we regard the nomination with approval. We had hoped, as our readers know, that Mr. SEWARD might be our standard-bearer; that one who has contributed more largely than any other man to make our party what it is, standing up through persecution and abuse, contempt and reproach, in its defence, might lead our conquering legions in the conflict close at hand; but in the nomination made we discern a triumph of the positiveness of our party sentiment equally as marked and decided as would have been secured with Mr. SEWARD as our nominee, and we are entirely content to march where the hand of duty points the way.

From the Trenton State Gazette.

In the Presidential candidate we have an able and worthy exponent and champion of the Republican principles and Party, and one who by the force of his own indomitable will and unaided exertions, has raised himself to the proud prominence he to day occupies in the eyes of this nation and the world. He has long and faithfully served his State and his country, and in this brilliant and ever-brightening career there is not seen a single fault to tarnish its purity. Unstained and untainted the Republican Party offer him to the free voters of the land, and ask, with entire confidence in the man and the cause, for that ratification of their choice which is sure to be bestowed.

From the New Haven Palladium.

"Honest ABE LINCOLN," as everybody calls him where he is best known, is just the man that this sorely swindled and disgraced nation needs for President. He is a man of stainless purity—his whole life is as spotless as the driven snow. He is no corruptionist, no trickster, no time-server, but an honest, brave, straightforward, able man, who will restore the Government to the purity of practice and principle which characterize its early days under the administration of the Revolutionary patriots. For this reason chiefly, the heart of the nation, as if impelled by an overruling power, has been drawing silently but irresistibly towards him.

From the Hartford Courant.

ABE LINCOLN believes that slavery is wrong, and ought not to be extended. Standing on that adamantine ground, he will restrict it to the localities in which it now exists; if elected President, he will no doubt have a large majority of the House of Representatives, and a working majority of the U. S. Senate, as his backers, and he will have the good wishes of all the civilized world in his efforts to put the government on the policy of its earliest statesmen. We put the name of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois, at the head of our columns with the heartiest pleasure.

From the Boston Atlas and Bee.

As in 1840 and in 1848, the Whig Party passed by the prominent names before the Conventions at the outset, and as in 1844 and in 1852 the Democratic Party did the same thing, and elected men who were not the most prominently before the people, the Republicans have in this instance taken up men fresh from the people, of broad and statesmanlike qualities, of unquestioned abilities, and of tried patriotism, in what is to be to them a great, and, as we confidently believe, a triumphantly successful campaign. In a nomination of this nature, there must have been necessarily many preferences from people of different sections, some of which were to be set aside. Mr. Seward, Mr. Chase, Mr. Cameron, Mr. Banks, Mr. Bates and Mr. McLean, all have friends who presented their names for the first or second place on the ticket. For ourselves, we might have had personal preferences equally strong with others. But at a time like this, personal preferences are to be subordinated to the will of the majority, as expressed in the Convention, and to the success of the ticket as indicated by the judgment of that body.

From the Springfield Republican.

In ways, which it is useless to mention now, we are, of course, disappointed; in ways, which we shall have frequent occasion to mention between this date and November, we are glad and grateful. The nominee is a positive man—a live man—and in these respects matches well with the platform, which is bold, manly and comprehensive. The many friends of Mr. SEWARD, particularly, will feel aggrieved by this result, but it could not have been otherwise. The States which must be carried to secure a Republican triumph did not dare to assume Mr. SEWARD, and the forcing upon them of a name that would weaken them, and develop opposition—organized and consolidated—would have been neither wise nor fair. We predict for the ticket a popularity that will grow, as the campaign advances, into a furor of enthusiasm. We predict, furthermore, that it will be elected.

From the Providence Journal.

Of course, where there were so many names before the Convention, the friends of many prominent men must suffer a temporary disappointment. Mr. LINCOLN's nomination will, we suppose, be especially strong in the West. He showed in his celebrated contest with Mr. DOUGLAS, that he had great power with the masses. The people have great confidence in his unquestioned integrity, in his devotion to the Republican cause, in his sterling good sense, and in his manly perseverance, which has enabled him to overcome all obstacles in his way, and hew out for himself the path to eminence and usefulness.

From the Concord Statesman.

The Convention, in making choice of the honorable gentleman, would doubtless say that in giving him the preference over the other eminent men whose names were under consideration, it is not "that they loved Cæsar less, but Rome more;" for had that great and patriotic body convened to choose a President instead of nominate a candidate, four-fifths of their ballots would, without doubt, have been cast for the first amongst present living statesmen in this country, Hon. WILLIAM H. SEWARD. The question at Chicago, however, was, not who is most worthy of our consideration, but what suitable candidate can we present with the strongest probabilities of success?

From the National Intelligencer.

Though fully identified with the principles of that party, and justly entitled by his private worth and proved ability to wear with dignity any honor it may be able to confer, Mr. LINCOLN, so far as we are aware, has not until recently occupied a prominent place in the list of distinguished citizens from which it was supposed the Republicans would make a selection in nominating a candidate for the Presidency. It is no derogation from the claims of any among that number to say that the honor in question was awarded by common expectation to the distinguished Senator from the State of New-York, who, more than any other, was held to be the representative man of the party, and who, by his commanding talents and eminent public services, has so largely contributed to the development of its principles as well as to their defence before the American people. By what considerations the Chicago Convention was influenced in postponing the claims of Mr. SEWARD, we are of course unable to say. But his friends and admirers will find consolation for their disappointment in the fact that he can well afford to dispense with the insignia of political promotion, and that in our country the highest civic honors are not always awarded to the most eminent competitor.

DEMOCRATIC VIEWS.

AN ADMINISTRATION ESTIMATE.

From the Albany Atlas and Argus.

We can easily read the motives which led to this act. The Republican Party has committed suicide to escape from justice. They felt that the judgment of the people was about to overtake them, and they resorted to this miserable and cowardly refuge. Better to have encountered defeat manfully, and found an honorable grave, than to sneak thus into oblivion, to be buried on the cross-roads with a stake through the body, leaving a name infamous behind it.

The Democratic Party now needs only to be true to itself—to exercise judgment and wisdom, and not be swayed by prejudice and passion—in order to achieve, not merely a brilliant victory in this Presidential campaign, but also a permanent triumph and continued ascendancy throughout the nation. The defeat of SEWARD and nomination of LINCOLN emasculates the Republican party. This repudiation of the representative man of the organization extinguishes its life, and deprives it of the further sympathy of the earnest men who have been really sustained from principle. The Republican Party is struck with a paralytic stroke, especially in the State of New-York, and with common prudence on the part of the Democracy, the latter will have an easy victory. If the thirty five electoral votes of this State are not cast for the Democratic nominee, it will be the fault of our political friends. The Republican Party has no longer the power to control them.

A DOUGLAS CRY.

From the Philadelphia Press.

It is now quite certain that if Mr. DOUGLAS be rejected by the Democratic Convention at Baltimore, Mr. LINCOLN will sweep Illinois, Indiana, and the whole Northwest, and his election by the people becomes, perhaps, a foregone conclusion. One thing is sure, and must be known to the Baltimore Convention, and that is, that with DOUGLAS they can triumph; and that, with any other candidate, defeat is almost inevitable. What the result may be time will determine. The Seceders and Disunionists who retired from the Charleston Convention would, most assuredly, prefer the election of a Republican President rather than the success of Mr. DOUGLAS; but whether this factious, personal opposition can control the masses of the people of the Southern States remains to be seen. It is not doubted that a large majority of the delegates from the South refused to secede, and will sustain Mr. DOUGLAS if nominated.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION—OBLIGATIONS OF THE PRESS TO THE TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.—The Press of the country are under immense obligations to the New-York, Albany and Buffalo, and Western Union Companies' lines for the superb manner in which they were served with the doings of the Chicago Convention. Not only were two wires the entire distance devoted to the newspaper dispatches, but the rates thereon were greatly reduced for the occasion—a liberality on the part of the efficient and worthy managers of the line which was unasked. To Messrs. ANSON, STAGER and J. D. REID, the Superintendents of the lines, and to their competent assistants, the operators, the Press are largely indebted. The amount of work done, in itself immense, seemed but a small obstacle to the latter, and was transacted in a style and with a spirit which were untiring. The two wires devoted to the Press worked steadily and continually during the Convention, notwithstanding the private business of the Companies suffered not one iota. The Press of New-York are particularly obliged to Mr. WHITING, Manager of the New-York office, and his worthy assistants, for their manifold and efficient services.

THE BAHAMES.—Various works of internal improvement are in progress in the Bahama Islands. The Colonial Legislature having lately passed an act to encourage inter-insular steam communication, the Governor had made public advertisement for a steam vessel to run between Nassau and Turks Island, Jamaica and Cuba. A Government hotel is also to be built by contract in Nassau.

General and Miscellaneous News.

The steamship Adriatic, from Southampton on the 9th May, arrived here on Saturday morning with three days' later news from Europe. She left Havre on the 8th inst., and arrived off Cowes the same evening. Having embarked the mails and passengers she sailed again on the evening of the 9th, passing the Needles at 6:20 P. M., from whence to Cape Race she encountered a constant succession of strong westerly winds, with head sea.

The steamship Anglo Saxon, from Liverpool the 9th, via Queenstown the 10th inst., passed Farther Point last evening. The pilot-boat went out for the news, but going too close to the steamer was stove to pieces. No lives were lost. The news, which is one day later, can only be obtained when the Anglo-Saxon reaches Quebec, this morning.

The Great Britain has arrived from Australia, with £190,000 in gold, after a passage of 62 days.

The Arabia came in contact with the screw steamer Great Britain when coming into the river from the Sandon Basin. The Arabia had rigging of port side carried away. The Great Britain was not injured.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE FIGHT FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

From Bell's Life.

We have very little original matter to add to this affair. Notwithstanding what has been stated as to the intention of the authorities to interfere, and notwithstanding the recommendations of various lovers of the art, both men—but more especially HEENAN—appear bent on fighting again. That this will not be permitted anywhere in the United Kingdom is now evident, for on Thursday last we had a visit from Superintendents DURKIN, of the F division, and HANNANT, of the A division, who informed us they were instructed by the Commissioners, who were acting under the direction of the Home Secretary, to give us official notice that if either TOM SAYERS or HEENAN attempted to renew hostilities in any place which could be reached by a Secretary of State's warrant they would be arrested, and their designs frustrated; and not only this, but directions would be given to the proper persons to indict them and all persons concerned for the breach of the peace already committed, at the ensuing assizes. This warning has been communicated to the referee, who has determined, beyond the naming of a future day, to wash his hands of the business. On Friday we had a visit from HEENAN, who, in company with Mr. WILKES, came to demand that a day should be fixed for the battle to be resumed. Both were aware of the notice alluded to in our last, and both suggested that the fight should take place outside of England; but whether SAYERS will agree to this remains to be proved. A day has been named, but, as by the articles, the men are bound to fight in England; and as the authorities are determined, we cannot see a way out of the difficulty unless SAYERS waives the articles entirely and goes abroad to continue the contest. We had not seen HEENAN since the fight until Friday, and were glad to perceive that, beyond a scar and a few discolorations, he had entirely recovered from the punishment he had received. He, of course, expressed his anxiety to have the matter settled in one way or the other, and made no objection to give the proper time for SAYERS to be placed on an equal footing with himself. He announced that he will shortly take a benefit, but that there had been some difficulty as to a place, which prevented him at present fixing a day. All we can say is, let him lose no time, but "strike the iron while it is hot." The excitement at present is very great, and if he fixes upon a spot within a few days he must realize a large sum. If he tarry too long, public interest will be on the wane, and his receipts will be diminished by one half. Of TOM SAYERS we have heard but little during the week. He has been at Chester and Liverpool, at each of which places he has had most rapturous receptions, and received large subscriptions. His arm is progressing favorably, although, of course, the cure must be very slow. We have received a message from Mr. HOGG, of the Angel, Stratford, (the Mr. H. alluded to in our last,) stating that he was not a friend of HEENAN's, and knew nothing of him beyond seeing him with MACDONALD, and that he was sent to the referee by the latter to request him to return to the ring and allow the battle to go on, and not for the purpose of putting an end to it. If Mr. HOGG sends us a letter to this effect we will insert it; but we may inform him at once that his memory must be somewhat at fault if he imagines he put his request to the referee in the way stated. Before concluding these remarks, we have only to repeat the recommendation that the men should shake hands and settle the matter in an amicable manner. The feeling throughout the country, if we except certain of the betting fraternity, is so decidedly in favor of a draw, and the opinion so universal that both men have done enough, that we do not hesitate to adopt this course. We have no doubt many will be found ready to throw suspicion upon such a recommendation, as tending to imply a doubt in our minds as to the capabilities of the Champion, but they will not be found among a class to whom it is of any importance to us to explain our motives. We feel quite confident that those whose good opinion alone we care for will all be ready to justify what we have said and done. Our correspondent is wrong in supposing TOM SAYERS can claim the belt without fighting out the present match with HEENAN, supposing it does not take place previous to the 16th of June. The match once made must be decided one way or the other, unless the men agree to a draw.

LETTER FROM TOM SAYERS.

To the Editor of the London Times:

SIR: The period has arrived when it becomes my duty to thank the great British public for the patronage they have bestowed upon me. It is not for me to pass any remark upon my late struggle, when the New World was pitted against the Old, but one thing I can say in honesty, that I did my best for the land of my birth and dearest affections. I had opposed to me one worthy of me, and whose activity, rapidity and pluck it was no small task to encounter. Sprung from our own race, the Americans inherit our best qualities, and as our conflicts with them have in the progress of time ended in peace, so may every bitterness engendered by the late struggle for the championship pass away forever. Upon my own part, and that of my children, I humbly offer to you my most grateful thanks, and I trust, to whatever period Providence will extend my life, that no act of mine, either in private or in public life, will be unworthy of one who has received the notice of the Times newspaper.

I remain, Sir, &c.,

TOM SAYERS, Champion of England.

LONDON, Sunday, May 6.

THE GREAT EASTERN UP FOR AMERICA.

The following announcement appears in the London journals:

"The Great Ship Company (limited) intend dispatching the steamship Great Eastern, J. VINE HALL, Commander, from Southampton for New-York, on Saturday, the 9th of June. 300 first-class passengers only will be taken, at a uniform rate of £25 each, including steward's fee, but without wines or liquors, which can be obtained on board. Return tickets will be issued at the rate of £40. For passage and other information apply to the Great Ship Company, (limited,) No. 11 King William street, London, E. C."

THE NEW COMMANDER OF THE GREAT EASTERN.

A Hull newspaper says that Capt. VINE HALL, who has been appointed to the command of the Great Ship, has been somewhat intimately connected with Hull. He is the brother of Rev. NEWMAN HALL, formerly pastor of Albion Chapel, in that town, and now of Surrey Chapel, London, and some time ago himself resided at Hull. Capt HALL has had an immense experience in the command of ships of the first-class, in the Mediterranean, South America, Australia and India. His conduct in connection with the Crœsus, of 2,700 tons, which, upon arrival at Sydney, was found to be frightfully leaky, many of the plates having started, gained him the approbation and friendship of the late Mr. BRUNEL. There was no dock into which he could put his ship, and with perseverance he succeeded in forming a basin by driving two rows of piles round the vessel, filling up the space between, then pumping the water out, and by this means he was enabled to repair and bring home the ship with a most valuable cargo. When the Crœsus, with troops and stores for the Crimea, was destroyed by fire off Genoa, his conduct received the highest approbation from the Admiralty. As the captain of the Golden Fleece, with troops for India, he made the quickest voyage on record between England and Calcutta. In 1857 Capt. HALL was elected a F. R. A. S., and was the first officer in the mercantile service who took a first class certificate in steam navigation under the Mercantile Marine Act.

DEATH OF THE ARCHBISHOP OF YORK.

The London Post says: "We are informed that only a fortnight yesterday his Grace complained of a dizziness after entertaining a select circle of friends at dinner, and, although no importance was attached at the time to his indisposition, it gradually became worse, and ended with fatal results. The Right Hon. and Most Rev. THOMAS MUSGRAVE, D. D., was son of a draper in Cambridge, where he was born in 1788. After an elementary education he entered as student, Trinity College, Cambridge, in 1806, and was fourteenth wrangler in 1810. His Grace was elected a fellow of his college, which he held up to 1837. When at Cambridge he obtained the second member's prize for middle bachelor in 1811; proceeded M. A. in 1813; became Lord Almoner's professor of Arabic in 1821, and was senior proctor in 1831. The deceased Archbishop was incumbent of St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge, and had also been bursar of his college. In 1837 Dr. MUSGRAVE was appointed by the late Viscount MELBOURNE Bishop of Hereford, and, on the death of the venerable Dr. HARCOURT was translated to the Archbishopal see of York. The late Archbishop was primate of England, a Governor of the Charter House, and of King's College, Oxford; a Commissioner for building churches and elector of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury. In the patronage of the Archbishop were 96 livings, which he dispensed most impartially, and with credit to his exalted position. The diocese comprises the whole of Yorkshire, with the exception of a portion belonging to the See of Ripon, and is of the annual value of £10,000. The province includes the sees of Durham, Carlisle, Chester, Manchester, Ripon, and Sodor and Man. The late Archbishop married, 12th December, 1839, the Hon. CATHERINE, youngest daughter of the late Lords WATERPARK, and sister of the present Peer."

MISCELLANEOUS ENGLISH NEWS.

HOUSE OF LORDS, May 7.—The House sat only for a few minutes.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, May 7.—A discussion of some length took place between Mr. WALTER and Mr. HORSMAN, relative to an article which appeared in the London Times, and which Mr. HORSMAN said contained a gross calumny and an insulting aspersion upon the House.

A few playful remarks by Lord PALMERSTON, followed by others in the same spirit by Mr. DISRAELI, put a stop to further discussion, and the subject dropped.

The adjourned debate on the second reading of the Refreshment Houses and Wine Licenses bill, and the amendment to defer the second reading for six months, was then resumed. After considerable discussion, the House divided, when the amendment was negatived by 267 against 193.

The bill was then read a second time.

In the House of Commons, May 8—The Paper Duty Repeal bill was read a third time and passed—219 ayes, and 210 noes.

The Liverpool Albion says: "The Prince DE JOINVILLE sailed in the Europa for Boston, Saturday, under the name of FRANCOIS D'ARC."

The Times Paris correspondent says: "The departure of the Emperor for Nice is postponed until the treaty between Sardinia and France shall be ratified."

Defensive works on an extensive scale are still carried on with great activity on the coast of Brittany and Normandy. I am assured that the official returns show that the number of seamen inscribed in the maritime inscription is 68,000."

Up to the 25th of April, the injury to the Red Sea telegraph cable had not been repaired, and consequently telegraphic communication between Aden and Suez remained interrupted.

The Daily News says: A divorce bill, in its main features a transcript of the English bill, has been passed by the Legislative Council of Victoria. The Australian measure, however, contains two additional clauses of importance. The first provides that divorce a mensa et thoro may be obtained for habitual drunkenness; and the second, absolute dissolution of marriage may be granted where there has been desertion for four years, either by husband or wife.

The Court Journal says Mdlle. PICCOLOMINI left London for Sienna, on Thursday evening, where she is to be married to the Marquis and Duke of GAETANI. A formal betrothal took place prior to leaving, and the marriage contract was duly drawn up. It is said she has realized a fortune of £40,000 by her brilliant talents. The Marquis is a man of property and high family. PICCOLOMINI's name is CLEMENTINI. Her father is Count CLEMENTINI.

The Times says the gun factories are now at work night and day on a prodigious scale forging the Armstrong guns of all sizes, from 6 to 100-pounders. It is expected that 1,200 guns, chiefly of the larger description, will be made this year. During the nine months since the factory has been in operation 48 complete batteries of field artillery have been turned out and equipped for service, as well as 200 40-pounders for naval use, besides a large number of 100-pounders in progress of manufacture, and which will be ready by the 1st of August next.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Saturday, May 5.

The Patrie believes itself correct in stating that no decision has yet been taken relative to the evacuation of Rome. The same paper says: "It is asserted that Marshal MACMAHON will take the command of the camp of Chalons in June next."

The correspondent of the Morning Post says: "A very extensive and augmented camp is forming at Chalons. There is to be a grand review this year."

Preparations are being made at Toulon and Marseilles to receive the siege artillery of the army of Italy, originally intended to reduce the strong places of Venetia.

The Moniteur publishes an imperial decree, promulgating the law passed by the Legislative Chambers for abolishing, and in certain cases modifying, the duties hitherto levied on cotton. The import duty on cotton imported into France in French shipping is abolished; that imported in foreign shipping is to pay a duty of 3 francs the 100 kilogrammes. Cotton imported into France by land is likewise to pay a duty of 3 francs per 100 kilogrammes.

The price of flour varied considerably in the Paris market last week. Wheat was firm.

SPAIN.

The Paris correspondent to the Morning Post says, according to official dispatches, there is no truth about a modification of the Spanish Cabinet. A subscription for the Pope has been opened at Madrid, but as yet it only amounts to 48,534 reals.

MADRID, Monday, May 7.

Count DE MONTEMOLIN and his brother left Tortosa to-day; they will embark on board the steamer Colon, the destination of which is unknown.

THE RENUNCIATION OF COUNT MONTEMOLIN.

The Paris papers publish the following as the renunciation by Count MONTEMOLIN of his pretensions to the throne of Spain:

"I, the undersigned, CHARLES LOUIS DE BOURBON and DE BRAGANCE, Count DE MONTEMOLIN, declare in the face of the world, publicly and solemnly, to renounce now and forever all claim to the throne of Spain, protesting that this sacrifice, which I lay upon the altar of my country, is the result of the conviction which I have acquired in the last abortive attempt, that the efforts which might be made in my favour would always lead to civil war, which I wish to avoid at all price. Consequently, I pledge my word of honor henceforth never to consent to my flag being hoisted in Spain or in its States, &c.

I also declare that, as soon as I am restored to the full enjoyment of my liberty, I will renew my present voluntary renunciation, so that at no time my free will in making it may be called in question. May the happiness and prosperity of my country be the reward of this sacrifice.

Done at Tortosa, April 23, 1860.

CARLOS LUIS DE BOURBON ET DE BRAGANCE.

The renunciation of Don FERDINAND is couched in the same terms.

AFFAIRS IN NAPLES—DEPARTURE OF GARIBALDI FOR SICILY.

Gen. GARIBALDI's departure for Sicily has been fully confirmed. He left during the night from the 5th to the 6th.

The Patrie of May 7, says that Gen. GARIBALDI has left for Sicily with an expeditionary corps d'armée.

The Patrie adds: Gen. GARIBALDI, by acting thus, commits an act which falls under the application of the law against piracy.

The same journal further says: The Sardinian Cabinet has ordered the Sardinian vessels off Sicily to oppose with armed force any attempt which may be made by persons who have embarked in vessels hoisting the Sardinian flag.

The King of Naples has caused innumerable photographs of GARIBALDI to be distributed to the troops.

LAW REPORTS.

THE SLOOP MURDERS.

Conviction of Albert W. Hicks, alias Wm. Johnson, for Robbery on the High Seas.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

On Saturday Judge SMALLEY delivered his charge to the jury in this important case. In reviewing the testimony of the numerous witnesses for the prosecution, he bore heavily—he could not help doing so—against the prisoner. As the counsel for defence had introduced no witnesses, and had not even attempted to prove an alibi, the Judge had, of course, nothing to charge in the prisoner's behalf.

The Court room was excessively crowded, but profound silence prevailed during the delivery of the charge. The prisoner listened to it attentively. His appearance was somewhat haggard, indicating a failure of physical power, and he had lost the nonchalanair which he wore at the commencement of the trial. During the delivery of the charge, the widow of Capt. BURR, of the E. A. Johnson, took a seat in the Courtroom.

The Jury retired at twenty-three minutes to 11 o'clock, and were absent just seven minutes. When they had resumed their seats, the prisoner was told to rise and look upon the Foreman, Mr. JAMES M. FULLER—the Foreman also rising and looking at him.

Clerk of the Court—How say you, Gentlemen, do you find the respondent guilty or not guilty?

Foreman—GUILTY.

Perfect silence prevailed, and the prisoner sat down and closed his eyes. Otherwise, except by a nervous twitching of the fingers, he made no sign indicative of the position in which the verdict of the Jury had placed him.

Mr. GRAVES, his senior counsel, addressed the Court, stating that he intended to file a motion for arrest of judgment.

The Court directed him to do so on Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock. Of course the motion will be a mere formality, as no exceptions have been taken during the trial, and not one witness produced for the defence.

The punishment for the crime committed by HICKS is death, and the place of execution is Gibbet Island. It is now many years since an execution has taken place there.

The Ford Rubber Company.

COMPLAINT OF A STOCKHOLDER.

Spencer T. Parmelee vs. Christopher Meyer and John R. Ford.—This action was tried at the Special Term of the Supreme Court, before Justice HOGEBOOM, on the 26th of March last, and was stated in the TIMES of the 2?th of the same month. The action was brought to cancel certain transfers of plaintiff's stock in the Ford Rubber Company, made to the defendant. The Company is an association of parties in the manufacture of rubber goods, holding its charter under the laws of New-Jersey, but doing business in this and other States.

The plaintiff alleged that he was the holder of 250 shares of the stock of the Company, which was doing a fine business, and that in October, 1855, the defendant, Meyer, came to him and represented that the Company was in a very bad condition, and that its stock was of but little value. Plaintiff avers that in consequence of such representation he was induced to sell out to the Company for $180 per share, when his stock was worth much more, and that he was thus defrauded. He also asserted that the Company was then paying large dividends, as it is now.

The defence was that the plaintiff was employed by the Company upon his false representation that he possessed an important secret concerning the manufacture of rubber goods, which would be of great value to the Company; that he was also given the 250 shares claimed to induce him to conduct the affairs of the scientific department to the best of his ability; but it turned out that plaintiff was not qualified to attend to the business as represented. It was also set up that the plaintiff obtained in full for all claims against the Company, the sum of $2,000, and that by that agreement he was estopped from action. Justice HOGEBOOM, after a full hearing of the case, has now rendered his decision dismissing the complaint.

Wm. E. Curtis for plaintiff; Lee & Schmidt and Charles O'Conor for defendants.

Splendid Passage of the Fulton.

The late performance of the steamship Fulton, of the New-York and Havre line, deserves special notice, on the ground that it is one of the shortest westward passages ever accomplished between the port of Havre (by way of Southampton) and New-York. We accordingly insert in our columns to-day an abstract of the ship's log, which ranks the Fulton at once among the fleetest of the steamers which have yet crossed the Atlantic. This result has been achieved by effective new boilers, made at the Morgan works, and differing in their construction on combined principles from any others used in ocean steamers.

On her last outward trip, the Fulton was preceded by the Vanderbilt and followed by the Adriatic (no mean rivals!) exactly one week apart, and these three vessels arrived in port on the same day of the week, making a difference of only a few hours in the length of their respective passages.

The following is an abstract of the Fulton's log, on the voyage from Havre and Southampton to New York, May 2.

Another Fast Line to California.

OPPOSITION TO THE PONY EXPRESS.

The St. Louis Democrat says:

It is understood that when the wires are completed to Fort Smith and Los Angeles, the Overland Mail Company, operating under the Butterfield contract, will establish a horse express, in opposition to that owned by RUSSELL & Co., upon the Central route. The facilities on the El Paso line for an enterprise of that character are very superior; their stations and employes at regular intervals along the roads, already afford means of running an express at a trifling cost, compared to the expense that any other Company would be subjected to. The calculation is to go from Fort Smith to Los Angeles in five days; and starting as it appears, there is nothing in the undertaking to stagger a Company that has put through a stage coach from Syracuse, in this State, to San Francisco in sixteen days—a distance of twenty-seven hundred miles. The space between Fort Smith and Los Angeles is about fifteen hundred miles, and three hundred miles per day would be the maximum speed required to overcome it in five days. This is at the rate of 12½ miles per hour, and as their stages frequently go 13 miles in a single hour, it is supposed that over these favorable places, horses, with relays every ten miles, could be put through at the extraordinary speed of twenty miles per hour, which would leave ample margin for the rough places in the mountains, and for stops along the route. Even admitting that the trip is capable of being made in six days, it at once takes the lead in the annals of fast traveling. Nothing short of a race-course could surpass the speed shown in the grand race between the two oceans. The Pony Express, by the central route, would, undoubtedly, contest the palm nobly, and between the two, the speed would become positively terrific.

MONDAY, May 21—A. M.

The past week was one of large activity in Import entries. Although the Dry Goods is not quite up to the same week last season, an entry of $1,350,000 in Sugar and Molasses places the General Foreign Merchandise list considerably ahead. The total of all, including the Dry Goods table in our last paper, is $6,360,840, as against $4,981,054 the same week in 1859. The Exports of the week are lighter than last season, both in ordinary Produce and in Bullion. Of the former, the clearances are $939,509 against $1,397,395; of Bullion, chiefly by the Steamer on Saturday, $1,251,177, against $2,223,578 direct and $700,000 via Boston same week last May. The Sub-Treasury gains $333,734; the present balance standing $6,864,148 against $6,530,414 at the close of the previous week. As the last Bank Average was a rising one on the Specie line, and some considerable parcels of Gold and Silver have come in since by express from New-Orleans, Philadelphia and Baltimore, we look for no decrease on the statement to be made up this afternoon, although the Average will be a falling one from the outgo on Saturday. The market for Money works with much steadiness and general ease. A fair employment on demand loan has been found on the Stock Exchange, while prime mercantile paper continues scarce. The rates on both are 5@6 ₩ cent. on the Street, and 6@7 ₩ cent. for discounts at Bank. The Exchange market also holds very steady. The quotation is 109¼@109⅝ on London, with most of the business done at 109⅝ ₩ cent. The fresh supply of California Gold bars by the steamer which arrived at the close of the previous week, and the receipt of some Mexican dollars from New-Orleans, created a fair export movement of Specie, though far below that of last season. The neighboring markets of Boston and Philadelphia keep easy for Money, while at New-Orleans the demand is larger and at higher rates, in the expectation of the usual Summer transfer of Specie to the East. The export of Cotton continues on a liberal scale, for the season of the year, from the Southern ports, and the stock on hand is still 60,000 bales ahead of last season.

According to the Custom-house returns of the Trade at this port for the ten months of the current fiscal year, which we made up and presented in tabular form some days since, the Import entries at New-York from July 1, 1859, to April 30, ultimo, exclusive of Specie, amounted to	$195,421,000

Add three weeks in May	$12,838,567
Total since July 1	$208,259,567
Against same time last year	186,934,591
Increase this fiscal year	$21,324,976

The same tables make the Export clearances of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods, including Foreign articles reëxported, from 1st July to 30th April, ultimo.

1st July to 30th April, ultimo	$61,674,000
Add three weeks in May	4,571,166
Total to date	$69,245,166
Against same time last year	53,069,331
Increase to date	$16,175,835

The same tables make the Export of Specie from

1st July to 30th April	$43,727,000
Add three weeks in May	4,125,565
Total to date	47,852,565
Against same time last year	34,241,266
Increase to date	$13,611,299

The shipments of Cotton to Foreign States from the Southern ports, of the present season, to second week in April, are:

3,359,000 bales, averaging $50	$167,950,000
Against 2,530,000 last year, avera'g $53 75	135,987,500
Increased Export to date this year	$31,962,500
The total Export of Cotton the last year was 3,005,000 bales, of the value of	$161,434,923

—giving an average value of about $53 75 to the bale, while we take $50 as the average of the present season, for the convenience of comparison. The early average run of prices for both years was much the same, but the immediate currency, say for Orleans Middling, is lower than at this time last season.

We had a very speculative week in Stocks, with more than the usual variety of good and ill fortune to the operations, on both sides, in Panama, Pacific Mail and several other stocks, and with considerable excitement at the close of the week by reason of a fright in the Pacific Mail transfers. The general tone of the market for the shares and bonds of the New-York and Western Roads was and is still one of decided firmness; so much so that the violent, though temporary disturbance to confidence caused by the discovery of some irregularities in the transfer ledger of the Pacific Mail and the fall of 10 ₩ cent. in the Stock, failed to check materially the slightly advancing tendency. A reaction in prices, after a steady advance for ten days or two weeks, was not wholly unexpected before and independent of these occurrences, but it now seems doubtful whether it would have averaged 1 ₩ cent. or continued twenty-four hours, but for the agitation of wrong doing in the Pacific Company. As soon as this was measurably cleared upon Saturday, and the steamer Adriatic was announced from England, the general market reassumed its firmness and buoyancy, the chief exception being in Panama, which sold almost as wildly as its neighbor Pacific, say 136 @129@134½ and finally 133½ within a few hours, the cause assigned being the disappointment of some of the recent heavy speculators in the stock, on the prospect of the extension of the charter at Bogota. The probability is that there will be more delay about this matter than was calculated upon on the street some weeks ago, and so the stock falling almost as much below as it had risen above the price at which it ruled on its present acknowledged merits as a 12 ₩ cent. investment, finally returned to 133@134 ₩ cent. The New-York Stocks have shown much strength; the Central upon its current traffic, which is unquestionably ahead of last Spring; the Erie upon its renewed large traffic, as one of the Great Trunk lines and the continued speculation in its shares in England, and the Hudson and Harlem in sympathy with the other two, and the sound and easy financial position of the Hudson. The start in the Harlem Preferred shares was taken late in the week, and 41½ ₩ cent. was paid on Saturday. The Western shares, after some inequality in prices and a break-down in Galena to 63½ ₩ cent., improved again on Saturday on the excellent returns of traffic for the second week in May on all the lines east of the Galena; the increase being especially marked on the Burlington and Chicago, Chicago and Rock Island and Illinois Central. The Galena Shares also reached 65 ₩ cent. under the impression that the third week in the month, like the first, will show an improvement on last season. The Bonds of nearly all the Western, as well as New-York Companies continue to be held with much firmness, and a rise of 1 ₩ cent. in Michigan Central 8s, and New-York Central 7s, has taken place. State Stocks improved about a half ₩ cent. during the week, and Federal Stocks ¼@½ ₩ cent. with only a limited offering of the latter. The general market on Saturday afternoon left off firm.

The Managers of the Pacific Mail Company promptly engaged in the payment of the 10 ₩ cent. Cash Dividend previously declared at an early hour on Saturday morning, and as the acknowledged inability of the late Secretary to conform his Stock Ledger to his Transfer Book brought in the large body of shareholders at once, with their certificates in hand, the payments were continued up to 5 o'clock. They will be resumed at an early hour this morning. No certificate holder thus far has been denied his dividend on account of invalidity; nor has any discovery been made to alter the conclusion at which the Managers arrived and published on Saturday morning, in proof of which we have direction from the office to reinsert their card in our present issue, together with the following notice of the reopening of the transfers and registration of the Stock:

PACIFIC MAIL STEAM SHIP CO. OFFICE,
NEW YORK, May 19, 1860.

The transfer books for registered stock of this Company will be opened on Monday, 21st inst. All holders of stock not registered are requested to present the same for registry without delay.

S. L. MERCHANT, Sec. pro. tem.

A CARD.

The unauthorized absence of the Secretary of this Company rendering it impossible to complete a regular stock list in time for the payment of the dividend on the 19th inst., stockholders will be required to present their certificates when claiming payment of their dividends.

In order to prevent sacrifice on the part of stock holders, the Board deem it proper to add, that should certain discrepancies in the record of the payment of the last dividend result in loss to this Company through negligence or design on the part of the officer in question, his friends have promised to make good such deficiency. Competent accountants are engaged in the preparation of a new stock ledger, and the result of their investigations will be made public at the earliest possible moment. Meanwhile, it may be proper to add, that the discrepancies above mentioned consist in a record in the dividend receipt book kept by the Secretary, of 37,050 shares, (although receipts for dividends have not been given to such an extent,) whilst the capital stock was 36,610 shares. On the other hand, the sum of $366,100 was specially deposited for the payment of that dividend, and of this amount there remains unclaimed the sum of $3,710.

The Board of Directors further announce, that the cash assets and securities reported in the balance sheet of May 1, 1860, have been carefully recounted and found correct. By order of the Board.

WM. H. DAVIDGE, President.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP CO.,
NEW YORK, May 18, 1860.

The steamship Adriatic arrived off Sandy Hook at an early hour on Saturday morning, in 9½ days from England, and came up to the City at 11 o'clock A. M. The run is among the most rapid ever made to this port, and the admirable working of the machinery of the ship, both on her outward voyage and the passage home, vindicates the previously-expressed confidence of Capt. COMSTOCK, and adds immensely to her value and reputation as a first-class steamer. There was much gratification expressed on Saturday that all doubt on this subject has at length been dissipated. The ship had been out of commission for nearly two years, and even the low price of $400,000, or less than one-third her original cost, at which she was purchased last Spring by the Panama and Pacific Companies, was deemed by some parties a make-weight to the bargain in the Baltic and Atlantic, of $500,000.

The market and financial advices by this arrival are favorable for Cotton and Consols, and also for American Stocks, and report a steadier though not a firm tone in the grain trade. In reference to the latter, the change of weather in favor of the growing crop in England will perhaps delay any decided speculation in prices, but without removing the acknowledged feeling of the trade in regard to the moderate supplies left over from the last crop. The following are the latest figures for American Stocks in London. It will be noticed that United States coupon fives of 1874 are going steadily up, the present advance being to 95 ₩ cent., sterling, and that the demand for Erie Shares kept the price $2 above the latest then known from New-York:

The earnings by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad line for the second week in May, exclusive of earnings for excursion trains, were as follows:

The Boston Post says of this Road that its present cost is represented by

Capital Stock		$4,829,000
Funded debt	$3,600,000
Unfunded	250,000	3,850,000
Total for 130 miles		$8,479,000

But the Company operate in addition, under leave, 42 miles of the Peoria road, west of Galesbury, and the Northern Cross to Quincy, and also use 30 miles of the Galena road into Chicago. Our Boston contemporary, writing no doubt on information from the principal office of the Company in that city, adds:

"The road and equipment can be operated and kept in repair for 40 ₩ cent on a large business. Allowing them to earn $1,500,000 in 1860, (and in the first four months of the year the road gained on 1857, when it earned $1,529,000,) the net profits will pay expenses $600,000, interest $280,000, sinking funds $40,000, and leave 11 ₩ cent net upon the stock. One reason why the C. B. and Q. can be operated so cheaply is that its business westward is quite as large as that eastward, both in freight and passengers, as may be seen by an examination of its reports."

The Erie Canal is doing a much better business for the Canal Fund of the State this season than last. The tariff of tolls is more remunerative, and the understanding between the Canal forwarders and the Railways more rational than the competition of last year. There is more business to divide between them, and this, after all, is the best security for mutual profit to all parties. In three weeks of navigation this season the Canal tolls amount to

COTTON—Has attracted more attention at previous prices. Sales have been made of 2,000 bales, part in transitu. We quote lots, here, thus:

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western brands of Flour have been in fair request to-day, and desirable lots, especially of extra State, have been quoted firm. At the close our lowest quotations were not acceptable to the principal holders. Sales have been made of 16,850 bbls., including superfine State at $5 10@$5 15; ordinary to very choice extra State at $5 20 @ $5 40, chiefly at $5 25; inferior to choice superfine Western at $5 10@$5 20; extra Iowa and Wisconsin at $5 25@$6 10, extra Illinois Indiana and Michigan, $5 30@$6 20; inferior extra Ohio at $5 80@$5 90, round-hoop extra Ohio, shipping brands, at $5 95@$6 10 ₩ bbl.

Southern Flour is in moderate request at former rates. Sales 2,400 bbls., at $5 85@$6 40 for poor to good superfine Alexandria, Baltimore, &c., and $6 45@$7 65 for fancy to choice extra brands, ₩ bbl. Canadian is inquired for, including inferior to very choice extra, chiefly at $5 35@$7 45 ₩ bbl.; 800 bbls. changed hands within the range. Rye Flour is quiet, at $3 40@$4 15 for fine and superfine, ₩ bbl. Corn Meal sells slowly at $3 25@$3 40 for State; $3 70@$3 75 for Jersey; $3 85@$3 90 for Baltimore, and $3 95@$4 for Brandywine, ₩ bbl.

GRAIN—Wheat has been quite plenty, and prices have declined. The demand has been pretty good, though not general, at the reduced rates. We have heard of sales of 54,800 bushels, including Canada Club on private terms; White Western, part at $1 65@$1 68, the latter rate for (2,700 bushels) choice Michigan, taken for shipment to Cape Town, C. G. H.; Red Western (Winter) at $1 40; Milwaukee Club, part at $1 25; Racine Spring at $1 24; and Chicago Spring at $1 20@$1 21½ ₩ bushel. Corn is arriving very freely, and unsound lots are decidedly cheaper. The demand for such, though active, chiefly for distilling, is not equal to the absorption of the available supplies, in order to dispose of which, holders find it necessary to accept unusually low rates. Strictly prime mixed Western, fit to ship, is not as abundant, and it is generally held with firmness. It is wanted for export. Other kinds attract less attention, and the tendency of prices is noticeably downward. Sales have been reported of 115,000 bushels, at 62c.@68c. for unsound mixed Western; 69c.@72c. for poor to choice sound do., 69c.@72c. for yellow Northern; 72c.@75c. for yellow Western; 74c.@75c. for yellow Jersey and Southern, and 81c. for white Southern, ₩ bushel. LEATHER—The movements in this line during the week Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co. notice thus: "The market during the early part of the week was extremely dull, but for the past few days more buyers have been in, but with very low views, and their purchases have been limited in quantity and generally at our inside quotations. The receipts from the tanneries continue large, considerably increasing our stock. For damaged Leather, both good and poor, there is considerable inquiry, while the supply is quite limited. Orinoco over-weights are also rather scarce, owing to the recent shipments of heavy Leather to Europe. Other descriptions are in abundant supply. Most of the trade are disposed to sell their stock at current rates, but are unwilling to make any concession to buyers. There is no speculative inquiry, and most of the sales are for immediate consumption. The present firmness in the Leather market is due more to the high cost of the stock on hand and the extreme rates demanded for Hides, than to anything in the demand for Leather or the prospects of the immediate future. Buyers pay present prices with great reluctance, and operate very cautiously. Oak tanned is in steady request at unchanged prices." We quote: Oak slaughter and salted, good light, at 29c.@31c.; oak slaughter and salted, good middle, at 29c.@31c.; oak slaughter and salted, good heavy, at 28c @30c.; oak light Southern, at 25c.@27c.; oak heavy, for banding, good all weights, at 28c.@32c.; oak heavy, Spanish, 26c.@28c.; oak heavy, cropped, 34c.@36c.; hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good light, 21c.@21½c.; hemlock, Buenos Ayres, good middle, 21c.@22c.; hemlock, Buenos Ayres, good heavy, 20½c.@21½c.; hemlock, California, good light, 20½c.@21c.; hemlock, California, good middle, 20½c.@21½c.; hemlock, California, good heavy, 19½c.@20½c.; hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good light, 20c.@20½c.; hemlock, Orinoco, good middle, 20c.@21c.; hemlock, Orinoco, good heavy, 18½c.@19c.; hemlock, Orinoco and Buenos Ayres, damaged, all weights, 17½c.@19c.; hemlock, Orinoco and Buenos Ayres, spoor, all weights, 12c.@14c.; hemlock slaughter, in rough, 24c.@26c., on 6 months' credit.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The first surprise at the nomination effected by the Convention at Chicago, appears to have given way in the Republican party to a feeling of satisfaction more or less decided. In this City the tone of sentiment was on Saturday much more favorable to the ticket than on Friday evening, while from other points in the Northern States we hear a promising tale of gratification and rejoicing. The press, too, responds to the nominations with unexpected readiness and favor. At Washington, on Saturday, the Republican Association, having formed a procession, and procured the assistance of a band, visited the residence of Hon. HANNIBAL HAMLIN, the candidate for Vice-President, and in acknowledgment of their homage received from Mr. HAMLIN a few modest and appropriate remarks. They subsequently waited upon Messrs. CAMPBELL of Pennsylvania, and TRUMBULL and WASHBURNE of Illinois, who also indulged in a few congratulatory addresses. While the latter was speaking an attempt was made by Washington rowdies to disperse the audience, but the promptitude of the police defeated the attempt.

The steamship Adriatic, from Cowes on the evening of the 9th inst., arrived here on Saturday morning. The Anglo-Saxon, which left Liverpool on the same day, and stopped at Queenstown on the day following, reached Father Point last evening, but her advices failed to reach us. The news is unimportant. The Great Eastern was announced to sail for New-York on the 9th of June. From the Continent we receive confirmation of the publication of a general amnesty. The incorporation of the Count MONTEMOLIN into the Spanish royal family is not confirmed; nor have the conditions attending his release been made public. The revolt in Sicily promises to assume proportions likely to prove in the last degree formidable to the crown of Naples. GARIBALDI, commanding a well-furnished naval expedition, had effected his escape from Sardinia, and was hastening to the island in order to place himself at the head of the insurrection. Nothing of interest had occurred in Rome. The period for the withdrawal of the French troops was still undetermined. From Hungary word reaches us that the Imperial concessions had been coldly received, and that the spirit of insubordination was upon the increase.

The De Soto, from New Orleans, touching at Havana on the 15th, arrived here on Saturday. She brings commercial news only. From Porto Rico, by the brig George Washington, we have also later commercial advices.

The President transmitted to the Senate on Saturday a message relative to the negroes captured on board the slave-trader Wildfire. They were delivered on the 30th ult. to the U. S. Marshal at Key West, in whose custody they still remain; and it becomes important to have them disposed of before the cost of their maintenance there exceeds their cash market value, and before the yellow fever visits that port. The President suggests some permanent arrangement with the American Colonization Society applying to all such cases, seeing they promise to be frequent. The rest of the session of the Senate was devoted to District business. After considering private bills, the House passed into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union. Mr. WASHBURN, of Maine, argued the Slavery question, while Mr. MARTIN, of Ohio, attacked the Republicans. Mr. COBB, of Alabama, in course of the debate, denounced the Charleston secession movement; expressing the hope that the Baltimore Convention would nominate a man who should take the wind out of all secessionists.

The Methodist General Conference, now in session at Buffalo, did little business of interest at its meeting on Saturday. The majority of the Committee on Slavery expunged from their report those paragraphs which reflected on the majority of the same Committee, and so restored peace and harmony. A silver watch, over a century old, which had belonged to the late Bishop ASBURY, was presented to Bishop MORRIS, the Senior Bishop of the denomination.

Most of the second day's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly, Old School, at Rochester, on Friday, was devoted to the arrangement of the Standing Committees, and other necessary preliminaries for the business of the organization. A few memorials were presented, and also the report of the Special Committee appointed by the last Assembly, on the subject of the reorganization of the Board of Domestic Missions.

The man, ALBERT HICKS, charged with the murder of the captain and crew of the sloop E. A. Johnson, and tried for robbery on the high seas, was on Saturday convicted of the latter offence. The penalty is death, and as no attempt was made to set up a defence, there is no doubt that that extreme penalty will be inflicted.

Rev. Dr. CHEEVER delivered a discourse last evening on the "Right of conscience towards God in the people of the United States, and the violation of that right in the illegal imprisonment of THADDEUS HYATT." He denied the authority of the Senate to imprison him; denounced the act, and held that the people were bound to go to Washington, and, in the name of God, take Mr. HYATT out of jail. The congregation was unusually large.

"Political corruption" was the subject of a sermon last evening by Rev. J. R. W. SLOANE, from the text, "The wicked walk on every side, when the vilest men are exalted." His argument was, that the only remedy for our many national sins, is individual and national reformation.

The Stock Market resumed its buoyancy on Saturday. The New-York and Western Stocks were generally one per cent. higher. Some wide fluctuating took place in Panama. There was a good demand for Pacific Mail at about 90 per cent. ex. dividend. The dividend was duly paid on Saturday, and the presentation of the certificates of Stock for this object will soon enable the managers to determine the extent of the irregularity in the Stock Ledger, about which such intense concern was felt on Friday. Exchange closed steady and Money in easy supply. The shipments of Specie were $1,065,000.

Sales were made of of 2,000 bales Cotton, part in transitu, at previous prices. Flour attracted more attention, and desirable lots were quoted firm. Wheat was abundant and depressed. Corn was unsettled, with unusually heavy sales. Provisions were inquired for, as were likewise Groceries, Hay, Hops, Tallow and Spirits Turpentine. The movements in other branches of trade were restricted. There were 465 vessels of all classes in port.

Meum and Tuum.

Crimes, like sorrows, rarely come "single spies," but rather whole battalions. The present year, both in Europe and America, has been already signalized by a most remarkable series of defalcations and breaches of faith. They have occurred alike in public and in private life. The highest official rank has proved no guarantee against the same temptations to which obscure responsibility has succumbed. The proudest ministers of absolute sovereigns have fallen into one gulf of felony with the servants of a free people. The honor of the soldier and the probity of the banker have disappeared in one crucible. The Catholic General, Baron VON EYNATTEN, and the Protestant cashier PULLINGER, have stricken hands over one common compact with shame. The finances of an Empire have been shaken by the dishonorable suicide of a world-renowned statesman in Vienna; and the credit of a great commercial company reels in New-York at the disappearance of a common-place accountant. So frequent have acts of administrative dishonesty become of late years, that the first explanation which occurs to the public mind, of any irregularity or interruption in the financial processes of a public or private corporation, is now at once attributed to fraud, and the values vested by governments or by commercial companies are consequently held constantly liable to the most sudden and alarming depreciations, at the mercy of a hundred accidents. The case of the Pacific Mail Company's stock on the New York market, at the end of last week, is the latest and not the least striking illustration of this state of things. It has already begun to appear that the sudden evasion of one of the officers of that Company is attributable rather to despair at his incapacity of correcting accounts, which he had kept without sufficient order or method, than to any malversation or dishonesty on his part. It is more than probable, even, that no damage to the property of any holder of the Pacific Mail Stock will accrue from this evasion. Yet how instantaneous and how severe was the depression produced by the first appearance of any disorder in the Company's affairs! Men's minds, not yet recovered from the shock of recent disclosures at the National Post-office, ran back at once to the calamities which ushered in the crash of 1857, and to the guilty machinations of ROBERT SCHUYLER. The hypothesis of crime comes most quickly into every mind, when trouble overtakes any institution dependent on the integrity of individuals for its credit and its currency. This is certainly sad enough; and as certainly it marks our own age with a peculiar emphasis. There have been frauds always, and malversations in office, and abuses of confidence. Possibly it might be shown by a competent statistician to be true that in proportion to the enormous extent of modern financial transactions, modern financial probity need really fear no comparison with the probity of bygone times. But the special feature of our current crimes of this kind is to be found in the facility with which everybody admits their existence, as a sufficient explanation of all sorts of financial disasters; and this feature deserves the most thoughtful attention. A thousand subtle philosophical reasons might easily be given, we dare say, for this prevalent temper of the day, and as many moral remedies for it suggested as there are preachers in the land. But without entering upon the profounder metaphysics of the matter, it is tolerably plain that the intense competition and the vast personal opportunities of modern society have sorely disturbed the ancient limits of meum and tuum in the current conscience of mankind. Turn where we may, we can light upon no case of national or commercial malfeasance which cannot be radically accounted for, at the root, by the weakening in men's minds of the barriers which divide "mine" from "thine"—the barriers so happily described by SCHILLER as "the holy bounds of property." Devotion to ends begetting indifference to means, runs throughout the enterprise of the world. It is constantly veiled under fine names and sounding forms of words, but it amounts in substance to a very vulgar offence, as old as the Decalogue, and common alike to the Tahitian savage, who covets the brass buttons of the European middy, and to the American millionaire, who risks other people's investments to assure his own objects. "Scratch a Russian," said M. DE CUSTINE, "and you will find a Tartar." "Scratch a defalcation," we say, "and you will find a theft." Of course, in nine cases out of ten, the civilized defaulter does not recognize this true nature of the deed that he is doing. But it is precisely because they do not or will not thus look it in the face, that the nine do the deed. The Government officer who lends the nation's money intrusted to himself to his friends, would no doubt shrink from taking his neighbor's watch to give it to his wife; and he consents to the first act because it never so much as occurs to him to see in it precisely the same qualities which would make the second loathsome in his eyes. The tolerance, the indifference, the condonation, silent or expressed, of half the busy world, confirms him in this blindness; and so from step to step he hurries down the abyss. The railway functionary who takes the names of stockholders to bribe legislators into passing acts which he thinks advisable to be passed, never dreams that he is committing a positive breach of trust; the Board of Directors who declare dividends that have never been earned, out of money borrowed on the strength of dividends previously declared, would shrink with horror from the flat truth which brands them as practical swindlers. The names of things have taken the place of things themselves, and men having fixed the names of certain crimes upon certain varieties of those crimes, gradually lose the power of perceiving the real and unvarying nature which underlies all varieties of crime alike—identical in intrinsic baseness and in the mischief it is sure to work, however covered up and concealed it may be under the specious forms and habits of men's minds.

In this condition of things, we must expect to see the mutual confidence of men become diseased and feverish. An age in this condition must necessarily be an age of commercial speculations and financial fluctuations. Slight prospects of profit will insanely elate, slight prospects of loss as insanely depress it. So much of the world's accumulated property has become vested, within the last few years, in the hands of fiduciary holders, of great corporations, of Governments and commercial companies, that such a general unhinging of the radical notions of right and wrong, in regard to property, as it is idle to question has grown upon mankind, cannot fail to keep every busy community continually on the qui vive.

We see the evidences of this around us everywhere, and every day. We see it to-day in the panic which demoralizes, to-morrow in the mania which inflames a whole society. Cautious and honorable men will do well, not for themselves alone, but for the sake of their fellow men, to bear this thought with them steadily. When they see all their neighbors hastily running together at the noise of some great financial crash, to sacrifice everything of which they do not hold the assurance of its value in their own hands, these men will reflect how vast a part the permanent distrust is playing in the temporary alarm. When, on the other hand, they find every one else enthusiastically fired with brilliant promises of vast and immediate gain from enterprises of which no one knows either how or by whom they are controlled, these men will remember that no station has proved high enough, and no reputation dear enough, to insure the waster of other men's goods against the temptations of delegated authority, and the fatal confidence that the tuum which is used as meum to-day, may be restored safe and sound to its owner again, when it has done the work of its uncontrolled trustee.

The Bench and the Bar.

The Legislature passed an act last session declaring graduates of the Law School of Columbia College to be entitled to admission to practice as attorneys and counsellors of the Supreme Court, without further examination. By what influence or by whose solicitation this act was passed, we do not know. Its object was apparently to draw students to the Law School, by holding out the prospect of a substantial advantage at the close of the curriculum; and if so, we may add that we could wish all the acts of the session had been half as praiseworthy. Under it, twenty-two graduates applied to the Supreme Court for admission to the Bar a few days ago. On Friday Judge SUTHERLAND delivered the judgment of the General Term refusing it, Judges MULLEN and LEONARD concurring. He holds that the Legislature cannot, under the Constitution, deprive the Judges of the power of passing on the qualifications of applicants for admission to practice;—that the Supreme Court possesses an absolute discretion in the matter, with which no other body in the State can interfere.

In the present condition both of the Bar and the Bench, this whole matter possesses an importance for the public even greater than for Columbia College and its graduates, and deserves from us, therefore, more than a passing notice. It illustrates admirably the difficulty of staying the rapid descent both in manners, morals and ability, which the legal profession in this State, and especially in this City, is making in the opinion of every impartial observer. The Constitution declares, in set terms, what qualifications, and what only, shall be requisite to entitle a man to act as an attorney and counsellor; those qualifications are, we admit, few and simple, but there is no mistake about them. He must be a male, a citizen of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and of good moral character, and "possess the requisite learning and ability." In other words, if the courts are satisfied as to a person's sex, age, citizenship and reputation for honesty and morality, and that he has any amount of learning and ability it pleases to think requisite, they are bound to hear him on behalf of any suitor who chooses to employ him as his advocate.

We do not mean to defend this mode of making a "bar." We do not say that in our opinion it was at all likely to improve the administration of justice. But how this clause found its way into the Constitution, it is easy to see. In 1846, the Democratic fever had reached its height. The ideal government of the day was a government in which every official, from the night scavenger to the Governor of the State, was elected by the suffrages of the entire community, and in which nobody was to be under any restraint except such as was imposed by a direct vote of the masses. The long course of study and consequent expense necessary under the old system to attain to the degree of counselor-at-law, was especially obnoxious. A conventional test of fitness for an office savored of oligarchy, and aristocracy, and inequality, and was therefore hateful; so when the judges were made elective by universal suffrage, the Bar was thrown open to everybody. As we have said before, we do not think this the best mode of creating a corps of professional pleaders, but this was what was meant. It was intended that, upon broad principles of Democratic freedom, every one who thought himself a good lawyer should have liberty to plead for any one who chose to employ him, without being subject to any prescribed course of previous preparation And a bar of this sort, let us add, was the proper, logical, and consistent adjunct to a judiciary elected by universal suffrage. One is about as good as the other.

The Judges, for their own sakes, as well as of that the community at large, thought proper to insist upon the examination of every candidate for admission to the bar by examiners appointed by themselves. But what this accomplished, beyond asserting the authority of the Court to select its own officers, for the benefit either of the bar or the public, we do not know. For several years the examination was an unmitigated sham and delusion, and there was a rush of knaves and ignoramuses into the profession from which it is still suffering. It is only within the last three or four years it has been even decently stringent, but it is still far from being an adequate test, if there is to be any test at all. The examination once passed, we need hardly say there is no sort of supervision exercised over the manners, morals or attainments of the bar. There is no esprit du corps, no general intercourse, no public opinion amongst the members; and what is still worse, the Judges do not even attempt to exercise their authority for its purification. Violence and grossness of language, both towards the Bench and towards opposing counsel, are daily on the increase, and are never punished or even reprimanded. The most barefaced knavery on the part of attorneys is exposed in open Court, and no notice is taken of it. We called attention to one such case a few days ago. Counsel, guilty of rescuing their client from a Police Officer in the streets of New-York at noonday, are at this moment practising in full security, and have never been called to account. In fact, the tone of the profession is being steadily lowered, mainly owing to the remissness of the Judges in their duty. They have appropriated to themselves the right of regulating the Bar, by instituting an examination previous to admission, but the examination is notoriously an insufficient test, both as to knowledge and character. They claim, and rightly claim, the largest supervision of the conduct of the members in their practice, but they never exercise their power.

Columbia College now comes forward and obtains an act of the Legislature offering a strong inducement to young men, proposing to adopt the profession of the law, to undergo a good and sound preparatory training, such as her Law School is fully competent to furnish. The examination for a degree is very much more severe, a very much better test of fitness than the performance which takes place in the Supreme Court twice a year. The Judges declare it to rest in their discretion whether a body of young men so trained by a regular course of instruction in a great public institution shall be admitted or not, and they exercise that discretion by nullifying the act of the Legislature, and refusing the application. It is not pretended that the bar would suffer by the concession, but that it would be a sacrifice of the dignity of the Court. If it was at all clear that they themselves had, under the Constitution, the sole power of regulating the admission to the bar, or that having the powers they claim, they exercised them either for the benefit of the bar or the public, we should not deem the affair worthy of much comment. As matters stand we must follow the example of one of them who took part in this decision, when a counsel was guilty of the grossest insolence towards him in open Court a few days ago, and "hand them over to public opinion."

Political Gunpowder.

There is no surer sign of an imperfect civilization than a passion for noise. The Fejee Islanders, whenever they had secured a particularly fat family of foreigners for one of their national feasts, used to give vent to their delight by blowing through horrible tubes the most dissonant and far-resounding notes. The Chinese invented the gong, and forthwith petrified into eternal immobility. We hope there may be a few years of progress still in store for the United States, but really we begin to entertain grave doubts on the subject. The unbridled indulgence of our people in political gunpowder is entirely inconsistent with anything like a rational advance in the arts of life. On Friday, for instance, the Republicans of this City, having received the news of Mr. LINCOLN's nomination at Chicago, instantly found a small field-piece, dragged it into the Park, and began firing blank cartridges, not by the dozen but by the hundred! Now what did they mean by this demonstration, and what did they effect by it? Did they mean to impress the people of New-York with a sense of Mr. LINCOLN's popularity?

If this was their object, who can say that they achieved it? It is not such a novelty to have a hundred or two hundred guns fired in front of the City Hall of New-York that anybody who happens to hear the din of this cheap artillery should think of stopping to ask what it means. And, then, how small a portion of the people of New-York, happily for themselves, do hear it at all! The inhabitants of the greater part of the City live out of earshot of anything but a powder-magazine, or a battery of sixty-eight-pounders. The people who happen to be detained by their ordinary occupations in the immediate vicinity of the Park are excessively annoyed by the "demonstration;" the horses driven by the Park while it is going on are frightened out of their wits by it; the faithful Press reports it, precisely as it has reported a thousand such demonstrations before on all kinds of occasions, from the arrival of a fighting character to the publication of a new book by an enterprising tradesman. In a small village, a hundred guns make a great noise, and represent great excitement. In a great city, they are simply a petty nuisance. If our political cliques of all colors wish to attract public attention, and make a real impression of enthusiasm, they must hit upon some fresh device. If the Republican clubs or the members of Tammany, for instance, on receiving some news which elevates their spirits, would array themselves in tight suits of a clear sky-blue, or a striking scarlet, with feathers in their heads, and perform fancy dances of triumph all the way from the Wall-street ferry up Broadway, ending with an "all hands round," in Union-place, they would excite a much more general interest, and exhibit a much less questionable sincerity of partisan delight than can be kindled or shown by their present nonsensical and inexpensive practice of burning a little bad powder in the presence of a knot of ragged urchins.

WEBB BOWS.—The nomination of Mr. LINCOLN by the Republicans at Chicago has produced at least one remarkable effect. It has broken the proud spirit of the chivalrous Courier and Enquirer, and brought the indomitable WEBB to his knees. The palinmode sung upon this occasion by our respectable cotemporary is one of the most complete in history. Three months ago, on the mere hint of the Tribune that Mr. SEWARD might possibly fail of obtaining the Republican nomination for the Presidency, the Courier dashed gallantly into the field with this startling announcement: "If Mr. SEWARD is not nominated, we bolt in advance." Well, Mr. SEWARD has not been nominated; and yet the Courier of Saturday declares: "We bow to the nomination, bow with cheerfulness," and "will give it our hearty support." We hope the Republicans, whether victorious or defeated in the coming contest, will not forget this interesting illustration of the Courier's fidelity to its lofty motto of "Principles, not men."

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Though the "season" at this Opera-house came to an end on Saturday, a special performance will be given to-morrow evening for the benefit of Mlle. SPERANZA. This most unfortunate young lady, whose failure at her début in New-York clouded so sadly the opening of the Winter's amusements, has been detained in this City until the present time by the illness which overtook her on her voyage from Italy, and deprived her, in depriving her of the use of her voice, at once of a thousand brilliant hopes and of the means of supporting herself and her parents. A more distressing story no page of fiction records; and it will be terribly to the discredit of the musical public if the unreserved benefit which the managers of the Academy offer Mlle. SPERANZA to-morrow evening, shall fail to relieve this young, lovely, and accomplished lady, from the sufferings which she has uncomplainingly borne while the Opera has been running its gay career; and to furnish her with the means of seeking health and new life in her native land. Both Companies contribute to the occasion; Mad. GAZZANIGA, Miss WISSLER, Signor TAMARO, and Signor AMODIO, having volunteered their services in the opera of "Il Trovatore."

COOPER INSTITUTE.—A grand concert for the benefit of a little singer, Miss MARSHA DAVIES, will take place this evening at the Cooper Institute, at which a great variety of religious and secular music will be sung, under the direction of Mr. HORACE WATERS, by a company of more than 400 children from the Sunday-schools of New-York and Brooklyn.

ARRIVAL OF THE DE SOTO FROM HAVANA—THE BRIG GEORGE WASHINGTON FROM GUAYANILLO—MARKETS.

The United States Mail steamship De Soto, J. D. BULLOCK, commander, arrrived at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, from New-Orleans, via Havana, with merchandise and 191 passengers to LIVINGSTON, CROCHERON & Co. She was detained outside the bar two hours by fog.

The De Soto left New-Orleans on the 12th, and arrived at Havana on the morning of the 14th, and sailed from thence on the 15th at 1 P. M.

There was no news of any importance stirring at Havana, but produce was arriving from the interior for shipping, and vessels were in good demand at improved rates.

By the British brig George Washington, Capt. INNESS, from Guayanilla, P. R., we have dates to April 30.

The crops promised fair, although for a time planters had stopped grinding cane, but merchants were urging shipments, and freights were good, being 50c. on Sugar, and $3 50 on Molasses. Produce was on the rise. Sugar was worth from $4@$4 75 for refining grades to strictly prime. Molasses was selling for $16 ℔ 110 gallons, although that now shipping cost $18. American Produce was in demand. Mayaguez was fully stocked with everything. In Ponce, the market was not well supplied. White Pine Lumber was much wanted. Codfish worth $5 50, retail. Flour, $13 ℔ bbl., but several cargoes of Spanish was expected. There were several vessels loading for the States.

PERSONAL.—WM. H. WEBB was among the passengers by the Adriatic, which arrived on Saturday. Mr. WEBB has been absent for some time in Europe, and rumor has it that his visit had for its object the conclusion of several contracts for ships. The present stagnant condition of our ship-yards suggests a hope that these rumors may prove true.

FROM WASHINGTON.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

Message of the President Respecting the Slaves of the Wildfire.

OUR JAPANESE VISITORS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 20.

CAPT. RYNDERS IN TROUBLE.

Quite a storm is raging at the White House concerning Marshal RYNDERS, who left yesterday for New-York, and his removal from office is yet in dispute. The act of his assistants, in letting a slaver escape, has been excused on the ground that the warrant had not the name of a Commissioner on it—a fact which they knew in advance and should have attended to. When a prisoner was arrested at the instance of the Government of Wurtemburg, and was permitted to escape in New-York, that Government was pacified with the dismissal of the party at fault. But since then that party has been reinstated, and now the King of Wurtemburg demands not only indemnity, but apology, both of which, I understand, will be made. Messrs. COBB, TOUCEY, THOMPSON and BLACK, insist on RYNDERS' removal. The Attorney General is very bitter, but the President says that as RYNDERS is his appointment, he considers himself alone responsible for his retention in office. CASS and FLOYD are opposed to the removal. JOHN MCKEON is counsel for the Government of Wurtemburg, and is prosecuting the matter with vigor. RYNDERS left, I understand, uncertain as to the result. The President is his warm personal friend, and may save him.

A TALK WITH THE JAPANESE.

An interesting interview occurred to-day between Dr. HILLS, Superintendent of the Columbus (O.) Lunatic Asylum, and the Physicians to the Japanese Embassy. The following colloquy took place:

Dr. HILL—How many insane persons have you in Japan? Very few.

Have you separate hospitals for them? We have four hospitals in Jeddo for the sick, with separate wards for the insane.

Do you use force or violence in their management? We do not, but have strong rooms and guards.

Do you ever bleed insane patients? Never.

Are idiots and lunatics kept in the same hospitals? They are, but in different wards; we have but few—not more than twenty in all; there may be some in private hospitals.

How many sick do you average in your hospitals? From five to eight hundred, but all poor.

Here the Japanese doctors became interrogators, and inquired:

Have you many insane?

Dr. HILL—We have three hundred in my hospital.

How many of these are insane? All.

This reply astonished the inquisitors, who raised their hands, and looked at each other.

What medicines do you use? Wines, quinine and other stimulants.

Have you hospitals for dumb and blind? Yes, but separate.

Have you medicinal gardens? None of importance.

The Japanese here remarked that they would like to get the seed of our plants of every description for the imperial gardens of Jeddo, and they were informed these would be furnished them by the National Agricultural Society. They were also told that they would have an opportunity to inspect the Asylum for the Insane before leaving here, which appeared to gratify them very much.

OUTRAGE UPON THE STRANGERS.

A great outrage is said to have been perpetrated on these people by Mr. CHAPIN, artist for LESLIE's pictorial. They charge that he borrowed a sketch-book of their artist to look at one moment, and left with it for New-York. They are highly indignant, and pronounce this to be the first treachery practiced on them by Americans.

Apprehension is felt for their poor artist, who will be severely punished for letting the book pass from his hands. LESLIE has been telegraphed to on the subject.

Col. COLT has presented the Embassy with specimens of his revolving fire-arms.

An exchange of treaties takes place on Tuesday, and the Embassy have accepted invitations to dine with the President on Friday. Q.

From the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 19.

The following appointment have been confirmed by the Senate: S. HIGGINSON, Consul at Pedang, Sumatra; W. E. MOORE, Marshal of Nebraska Territory; M. A. BOWDOIN, Postmaster at Griffin, and W. F. GROVES, Postmaster at Marietta, Geo.

The Japanese contented themseles to-day with paying a visit to the Patent-office, and have postponed their visit to Congress until next week. They were delighted to find the presents received through Com. PERRY occupying a position so commanding among the articles placed on exhibition.

They also called upon Mrs. DOUGLAS, with whom they remained a considerable time in conversation, through the medium of their interpreters.

Their appearance at the music this evening attracted large crowds. Indeed, it was estimated that there were ten thousand persons on the grounds. The Japanese occupied a position on the portico of the White House, overlooking the handsome grounds, and the President remained with them throughout. This was a disappointment to the ladies, who expected they would mingle with them in promenade.

The Japanese are somewhat annoyed at the freedom of our American citizens, but express themselves perfectly satisfied with their treatment, knowing that our institutions are very different from theirs.

By order of the Secretary of War, a General Court Martial has been ordered to meet at Carlisle Barracks on the 22d inst., or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the trial of such prisoners as may be brought before it. The Court is to consist of Col. Thomas, Maj. Graham, Lieuts. Moore, Chambless, McKee, Wheeler and Arnold, and Capt. Gibbs as Judge Advocate.

Another Court is also ordered at Fort Columbus, on the 21st inst., or as soon thereafter as practicable, for the trial of such prisoners as may be brought before it, consisting of Maj. Holmes, Lieuts. Sweeney, Craig, Crilly and Worth, and Lieut. Morris as Judge Advocate.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 20.

The President has recognized J. C. ZIMMERMAN as Vice-Consul General of the kingdom of Netherlands at New-York.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 19.

Mr. HALE, of New-Hampshire, (Rep.,) introduced a bill to alter and improve the construction of the Senate chamber. Referred to a select committee.

Mr. SEBASTIAN, of Arkansas, (Dem.,) from the Committee on Indian Affairs, reported the House bill to appoint a Superintendent for Indian Affairs in Washington Territory, and also Indian Agents.

Mr. COLLAMER, of Vermont, (Rep.,) moved to amend, "That all temporary agents be dismissed, and no others appointed." Agreed to.

The bill was then passed.

A message from the President was received and taken up.

The message calls the attention of Congress to the capture of the slaver Wildfire, with 507 negroes, by the steamer Mohawk, on the 26th of April. The negroes were carried to Key West, Florida, on the 30th of April, and delivered to the custody of the Marshal for the Southern District of Florida. The question arises, what shall be done with the negroes.

He refers to the action in the case of the negroes from the Echo, and regrets to say that, under the mode adopted in regard to them, the expenditures will be without a violation of the laws of humanity. The expenditures on this scale for the Africans captured on board the Wildfire will not be less than one hundred thousand dollars, and may considerably exceed this sum. It will not be sufficient for Congress to limit the amount to be appropriated to the case of the Wildfire, as, probably, judging from the increased activity of the slave trade, and the vigilance of our cruisers, several similar captures may be made before the end of the year. An appropriation ought, therefore, to be granted large enough to cover these contingencies. The period, he says, has arrived when it is indispensable to provide by some specific legislation for the guidance of the Executive on the subject. He suggests Congress may authorize him to enter into a general arrangement with the Colonization Society, binding them to receive on the coast of Africa, from an agent there, all the captured Africans who may be delivered to him, and to maintain them for a limited period on such terms and conditions as may combine humanity toward those unfortunates with a just economy. It would obviate the necessity of making a new bargain with every new capture, and would prevent delay and avoid the expense of the disposition of the captured. The law might then provide that in all cases where practicable the captor shall carry the negroes directly to Africa, and deliver them to the American agent there, afterward bringing the captured vessel to the United States for adjudication. The capturing officer, in case of bringing the prize to the United States, ought to be required to land the negroes in some one or more ports, to be designated by Congress, where the prevailing health throughout the year is good. At these ports, cheap but permanent accommodations might be provided for the negroes, until they could be sent away, without incurring the expense of erecting such accommodations at every port where the captor may think it expedient to enter. On the present occasion these negroes have been brought to Key West, and, according to an estimate presented by the Marshal of the Southern District of Florida, the cost of temporary quarters will be $2,500. The aggregate expense for a single month may be $12,000. But this is far from being the worst evil. Within a few weeks the yellow fever will prevail at Key West, and hence the Marshal urges their removal from their present quarters at an early day, which must be done, in any event, as soon as practicable. For these reasons the President earnestly recommends the subject to the immediate attention of Congress. He says, in conclusion, that it is truly lamentable that Great Britain and the United States should be obliged to spend such a vast amount of blood and treasure for the suppression of the African Slave-trade, when the only portions of the civilized world where it is tolerated and encouraged are the Spanish islands of Cuba and Porto Rico.

The message was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

In accordance with a previous resolution, District of Columbia business was taken up.

The bill relating to the common schools of the District was first considered, on which Mr. Clark, of New-Hampshire, (Rep.,) offered an amendment providing that no person whose property is taxed shall be deprived of the privileges of the schools, and also that separate schools shall be organized for colored children. Mr. Clark stated that he should insist on his amendment, and on motion of Mr. Brown the bill was postponed.

Several other bills relating to the District were taken up and passed.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, Saturday, May 19.

The House proceeded to the consideration of private bills.

Among those passed is one for the relief of Sweeny, Rittenhouse, Fant & Co., directing the Secretary of the Treasury to return them the preliminary deposit of one per centum on so much of their bid for three millions of the five million loan, under the act of December, 1858, as was not issued to them. The question of consequential damages, owing to an alleged violation of the contract by the Secretary, is left to the adjudication of the Court of Claims.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union for general debate.

Mr. Washburne, of Maine, (Rep.,) in connection with comments on the Dred Scott decision, said the Supreme Court is a despotic and irresponsible power. He spoke of the issues before the country, maintaining that the Republicans stand with Jefferson for freedom, and not with the oligarchy of Southern slave traders, for whose use the so-called Democratic Party was established.

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, (Dem.,) wanted to know whether Mr. Washburn had not written his speech before the Charleston Convention?

Mr. Martin, of Ohio, (Dem.,) spoke of the existing sectional animosities, and of the necessity of rising superior to the trammels of party. He spoke of the Republican Party as aggressive, outrageous, revolutionary and sectional.

Mr. Cobb, of Alabama, (Dem.,) showed that it had always been his object to cultivate harmony and brotherly love, and expressed the hope that the Democratic Convention at Baltimore would nominate a candidate who will take the wind out of the sails of all secessionists.

Mr. Wade, of Ohio, (Rep.,) had written out some Scriptural texts to sustain his Anti-Slavery views and obtained leave to publish them.

At the time of adjournment only eight members were present.

THE JAPANESE AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

A RUSH TO THE PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION OF THE JAPANESE—A GORGEOUS DISPLAY—IMPOSING CEREMONIES—VISIT TO THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS

Special Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Washington, Thursday, May 17, 1860.

Rarely has Washington, the city of sensation presented so brilliant a spectacle, or the White House so select an assemblage, as yesterday on the occasion of the reception of the Japanese Embassy by the President.

The occasion has been anticipated for the last week with great misgivings by many who had an intense desire to witness it.

The official announcements declared that the reception was to be quite private. Most of those who made application to the President were informed that Dr. Blake had full charge of the arrangements, while Dr. Blake informed all newspaper applicants that his orders positively forbade the presence of any of the knights of the quill. As he forcibly expressed it, not even James Gordon Bennett himself could be admitted, as if to impress the fact that so great an influence with the President could be overlooked. All Washington was in a fever heat of excitement on the occasion, and everybody was wondering how they could go.

Every individual in the White House, from the President and Miss Lane down to the doorkeepers and duty policemen at the gate, was besieged with applications for admission. Officers of the Army and Navy and members of Congress were button-holed. Every man who had the entrée had at least a dozen ladies who wanted to go with him. In short, the interest reached a furore, the furore increased to a whirlwind of excitement, and Washington was in a blaze of anxiety to be there. Yet the inexorable edict was that only the leading members of the Government, the Army and Navy officers, and the members of Congress could be admitted. Old and well known representatives of the Press trembled in their shoes at the prospect of exclusion.

Your correspondent had spoken early to Hon. John Cochrane, and that obliging son of New-York put himself to great inconvenience to see that you were represented on the all-important occasion. His importunate efforts prevailed, and I was among the favored few—if three or four hundred may be termed a few—who witnessed the imposing ceremonies of this the historical event of the year, if not of the age. Our fears that the affair was to be conducted on the plan of Japanese exclusiveness, were allayed by the sight of about as many persons, privileged like ourselves, as the room could hold.

Among these the ladies held the largest proportion—at least in space. It would require a pen better skilled than mine in petticoat literature to fittingly describe the bewitching array of feminine beauty, both of person and toilette,—the clouds of lace, the mountains of crinoline, the forests of silks, the gardens of flowers, the Broadway of bonnets, shawls and mantillas, of finest texture and rarest hue; the galaxy of attraction in all the mysterious fashions of feminine ingenuity and exhilarating facinations. Among these the daughters of Mrs. Slidell, dressed in spotless white, and her nieces in blue silks, hats to match, and white lace shawls, were the cynosure of all eyes. The completeness of their toilet did credit to their exquisite taste, and admirably graced their personal attractiveness. They enjoyed an advantageous position close to the President, near Miss Lane and other favored ladies.

As early as 9½ o'clock, the East Room contained a few favored ones, and from that hour the crowd began to pour in. Heads of Departments, Senators, Members of the House, Army and Navy officers, and a few civic favorites, mingled with the throng, and the busy hum of conversation, the carnival of the social assemblage, and the elegant dresses of the ladies, made the scene in the famous East Room most interesting and picturesque.

The exclusiveness which admitted of so many exceptions was its own excuse, and served to indicate how uncomfortably and unmanageably great would have been the crush had the doors been thrown open to the public.

At nearly 12 o'clock Dr. Blake and the venerable Marshal Selden commenced clearing an open space in the centre of the room for the ceremonies to take place. A passage about fifteen feet wide was opened across the room, with the main folding doors for one end, at which the Ambassadors were to enter, and the other end reserved for the President and Cabinet. The officers of the Army and Navy were stationed on either side of this passage to the President, serving alike to render the reception more imposing, and to keep the crowd from imposing upon the Ambassadors. The ladies availed themselves of all possible points of sight. They stood on chairs and sofas, and crowded behind the President, evincing the same uncontrollable curiosity as has characterized the sex, not only since the arrival of the Japanese, but, I believe, from all time.

At length the hour of 12 was near at hand, the President and Cabinet entered and took their places, the bolts of the main doors were drawn, and everything was in readiness.

Meanwhile the Japanese had been brought from their quarters in an Oriental and imposing procession. It was determined to guard against the disgraceful scenes at the carriage doors that characterized the reception on Monday, and accordingly the Ambassadors came guarded by a detachment of the Ordnance and Marine corps, forming a hollow square. Each of the princes and principal dignitaries in a carriage was accompanied by an American naval officer, Capt Dupont riding with Simme-Buzen-No-Kami. Each carriage was preceded by a Japanese official, bearing a long pole with a device emblematical of the office of the dignitary. Two Japanese attendants, officers of of high family also accompanied each carriage on foot. The whole cortege was preceded by a file of policemen and the Navy-yard Band, making a brilliant display, and attracting a dense crowd all along the route from the hotel to the President's House. In this vicinity the crowd was very great, availing themselves, ladies and all, of the convenient altitude of a number of columns to be used in the extension of the Treasury Department. The steps of the White House were crowded by an anxious crowd, comprising many ladies, eager to witness the dismounting of the strangers from the land of the rising sun. The military escorted them to the very door of the mansion, and the dismounting and entrance to the house were effected with considerable alacrity, owing to the strenuous exertions of the police.

The President and Cabinet having been disposed as I have already indicated, and the general expectancy roused to the highest pitch by the approach of the hour, the noise of the entrance, and finally the opening of the folding doors, the Ambassadors at length made their appearance at the door of the East Room. The three Princes, Simme-Buzen-No-Kami, Muragake-Amagake-No-Kami and Oguri-Bungo-No-Kami, came first, the first-named on the right. In the rear came the interpreters and the attendant, bearing the credentials, which were inclosed in a box, with a multitude of fastenings and coverings.

They princes were gorgeously dressed in flowing robes and pantaloons of very heavy silk embroidered thickly with gold.

The telegraph has already furnished your readers with a full description of the actual ceremonies of the reception, the appearance of the Ambassadors and suite in their gorgeous robes, the impressive formalities observed by the distinguished foreigners, the delivery of their credentials and letter to the President, the speeches of Prince Simme-Buzen-No-Kami and President Buchanan, the introduction of the Cabinet and distinguished officials, the profound respect for the President evinced by the Japanese, the cordial character of the meeting, the modus operandi of translation, the Oriental style of dress and formality, their acknowledgment of each sentiment of the President's speech, and in short, the minutest details of the great feature of the occasion. One point, however, and that an important one, was omitted: that of the presentation of the letter to the President from His Imperial Majesty the Tycoon of Japan.

The translation of this letter, made in Japan, and transmitted along with the original, is as follows:

To His Majesty the President of the United States of America I express with respect:

Lately the Governor of Simoda, Insooye-Sinano-no Cami and the Metske Iwasi Hego no Cami had negotiated and decided with Townsend Harris, the Minister Plenipotentiary of your country, an affair of amity and commerce, and concluded previously the treaty in the City of Yedo. And now the ratification of the treaty is sent with the Commissioners of Foreign Affairs Simme-Buzen-no-Cami and Muragake-Awazi-no-Cami to exchange the mutual treaty. It proceeds from a particular importance of affairs and a perfectly amicable feeling. Henceforth the intercourse of friendship shall be held between both countries, and benevolent feelings shall be cultivated more and more, and never altered. Because the now-deputed three subjects are those whom I have chosen and confided in for the present post, I desire you to grant them your consideration, charity and respect. Herewith I desire you to spread my sincere wish for friendly relations, and also I have the honor to congratulate you on the security and welfare of your country.

[Name.]

The entire ceremonies lasted less than half an hour, and were certainly quite imposing. The spectators, however, had to avail themselves of their eyes rather than their ears, for but few words of what was said could be heard. The ladies especially evinced the greatest anxiety to get a glimpse of the Embassy, and did not scruple to push their way to advantageous positions. Your correspondent was nearly lost in a maze of crinoline and lace that crowded the vicinity and perfumed the air near the President. Gen Scott stood near this point, and one little incident denoted how the old veteran has not forgotten the gallantry of the man in the duties of the officer. He persistently refused to occupy a spot designated for him by the master of ceremonies, the venerable Marshal Selden, and when he was obliged to step in front of the ladies to the spot indicated, politely informed them that when they wished, he would move out of the way. When the General was presented to the princes, his herculean frame stood in such prominent contrast to the Japanese princes, that a buzz of comment passed round the room. The veteran of Mexico looked as if he was almost good enough for another half century's service to his country. His punctiliousness with regard to the ladies, however, would, if carried to its fullest extent, have kept him out of the room, as he could not have stood anywhere without standing in front of them. They were everywhere—in all the best places—while the members of the Press were obliged to stand and hear where they could, with the seventh best chance. For myself, when the space was opened for the ceremonies, and the tide set back, I dropped into a little eddy by a corner of a sofa, and kept a first-rate position near the President, Ambassadors, Gen. Scott, and the prettiest ladies in the room. While exercising my diplomacy, I could not help noticing a tall young man with an etherial expression, exhibiting considerable energy in keeping a good place. He proved to be Frank Leslie's artist, Mr. Jewett, and for his indomitable perseverence deserved to get a good picture.

I could not help thinking that if Quartermaster Winchester, of our Seventh Regiment, had had charge of the reception, better accommodations might have been had. Instead of a motley crowd, pressing and jolting, temporary seats raised at the ends of the room might have been erected at little expense, and no damage to the room, affording each person present a fine chance to see the entire ceremonies. I should not, however, find fault with the arrangements, for they were in general very good. The Ambassadors were properly attended and guarded from rude contact with the crowd. The entrees and exits were made without faux pas, and the whole reception was conducted with great decorum. The guests retired from the White House as they came, the military occupying the same position and the procession attracting the same attention on the way home. The servants and under officers of the Japanese delegation evinced the same obsequious humbleness as usual, by going down upon their knees when the Princes passed.

Among the delegations present, as I informed you by telegraph, were the representatives of the New-York Common Council, Messrs. Shaw, Starr, Van Tine, Hall, Lent, and Van Vort. They subsequently waited upon the President, who referred them to Capt. Dupont, to arrange the Japanese visit to New-York. They made an arrangement with Capt. Dupont to visit the Princes in the evening.

In the afternoon the Embassy made a number of official diplomatic visits, accompanied by Capt. Dupont and the balance of the Committee.

The interview of the New-York delegation from the Common Council with the Embassy (a full account of which was published exclusively in the Times yesterday) was most interesting. The Princes accepted the invitation to proceed to New-York with professions of great satisfaction, and intimated that they should regard that as their principal visit. Their demeanor to the delegation was not only courteous, but exceedingly so. They seemed to do their utmost to express, so far as actions could, their appreciation of the offer.

One hope I will venture to express, with reference to the visit of the Embassy to New-York—that is, that the balance of the Common Council Committee of Reception may agree with the views of the Sub-Committee that waited upon the Embassy here. I must say that, during a long experience with committees of the New-York Common Council on like occasions, I have never met with a body of gentlemen who promise so fairly to perform their duties in a manner that shall be a credit to New-York. The only disposition I have noticed has been to afford our distinguished visitors an opportunity to see to advantage as many of the points of interest as can be comprised during the brief period of their visit. It is to be hoped that the Committee will guard against a number of irregularities which have characterized the reception here. Let me, in all candor, and with no intent to injure any one's feelings, recapitulate some of the objectionable features to which I refer.

Notwithstanding that the Ambassadors are princes, gentlemen of education, refinement, and wealth, who in their own country never travel without servants by the thousand, they have been paraded in open, dirty, hired hacks, exposed to the impertinent scrutiny of the rabble, without even a policeman to protect them from insult, asked to shake hands with dirty boys, and even negroes of the lowest class; kept standing under a broiling sun to wait for circumlocution arrangements to bring up carriages, bored with applications for cards, forced to dine with their inferiors, and in other ways used in a manner that the great pains taken by the Committee who have them in charge ought to have prevented. It is to be hoped that these objectionable features of their reception will not be repeated in our Metropolis, and that while they carry back to their country vivid impressions of our enterprise, ingenuity, wealth, power and national greatness, they shall not be impressed with our lack of common civility, decorum and politeness.

Columbia College Law School.

THE ANNUAL EXAMINATION OF THE STUDENTS—PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY OF THE INSTITUTION.

The annual examination of the students of Columbia College Law School, No. 37 Lafayette-place, before an assemblage of distinguished visitors, closed on Friday last.

The Trustees of Columbia College, with the hope of elevating the profession of the Law, year before last established a department in their University course for the acquisition of legal science.

The first year there were thirty-five students; the second the number increased to about seventy, and by present indications the coming term will number a hundred or more.

Already an extensive library is attached to the establishment, to which additions are constantly made. Distinguished Professors deliver popular lectures during the term—Francis Lieber, LL. D., on Political Literature and Ethics; Prof. Nairne, on Moral Philosophy; and Prof. Ordronaux, on Medical Jurisprudence. Eminent members of the New-York bar also deliver lectures on legal subjects during the term. Thus it will be perceived that the design of the Institution is not only to furnish every requisite for legal science, but also to prepare the students for a career of distinguished statesmanship.

In order to attain this object with success gentlemen of the Committee have been selected who are of the profession and noted for learning and practical knowledge. The chair also has been most ably filled by Prof. Theodore W. Dwight, late of Hamilton College, who has proved himself not only a most efficient instructor, but by his suavity, indefatigable zeal and perseverance, has gained popularity among the students, and celebrity for the Institution.

In order to give some impression of the immense advantage of this institution to the legal profession, we need only refer to the past examination of the students.

The graduating class consisted of nearly forty young gentlemen, only twenty-eight of whom desired to be admitted to the Bar according to the recent act of the Legislature; the remainder preferring to prolong their studies through another term.

The candidates were put to the severest tests. During the three days' examination nearly one thousand questions were propounded to them, which were generally promptly and correctly answered, thus showing how thoroughly they had been drilled in the intricacies of legal acumen. The Chief Justices of all the Courts, viz.: Ingraham, Roosevelt and Daly, and also Judge Woodruff, of the Superior Court, who had adjourned their respective Courts in order to be present, were highly gratified, and the gentlemen of the Committee were warmly congratulated upon the signal success of their endeavors.

In order to stimulate the desire for distinction in legal science, four prizes have been instituted on the most liberal scale, consisting of $250, $200, $150 and $100.

The test of excellence is two fold: by an examination in writing in answer to printed questions, and by essays prepared upon such legal topics as are suggested; the prizes to be adjudicated upon the combined excellence of the essays and examinations. The answers to the required questions, which were no less than 150, were given in writing by the eleven competitors who entered the lists. The task was Herculanean, being limited within six hours, and performed in the presence of the Professor himself; yet no one failed in the allotted duty.

These prizes to be awarded by Hon. Daniel P. Ingraham, Justice of the Supreme Court, Hon. Lewis Woodruff, Justice of the Superior Court, and Hon. Charles P. Daly, Judge of the Common Pleas, on a comparison of the essays and written examinations, will be announced at the Law School Commencement to be held at the hall of the Historical Society, corner of Eleventh-street and Second-avenue, on the evening of Wednesday, May 23, at 8 o'clock, on which occasion an address to the graduates will be delivered by Marshall S. Bidwell, Esq., to be followed by a valedictory oration by Robt. C. Hutchings, a member of the class.

The Graduating class, after the exercises of the Commencement, will enjoy the hospitality of President King, at his own residence, by his special invitation extended to them at the close of their examination.

Immediately after the examination, the Graduating class held a meeting, and Theodore M. Squires was called to the Chair. Prof. Dwight then delivered a farewell address, expressive of entire satisfaction of the scholastic acquirements and gentlemanly bearing of the class, at the same time evincing the sincerest sympathy in their future welfare, and the deepest regret at parting.

An Alumni Association was formed, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: Francis Lowndes, for President; Wm. Creighton Mead, Carlton M. Herrick, for Vice-Presidents; George Van Nest Baldwin, Secretary.

The Steamer Brazil and the Sixty-ninth Regiment.—We have reason to believe that, by way of acknowledging the very enthusiastic reception of the captain and officers of the Brazil (the last Galway steamer) at the drill of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, which occurred on Tuesday night last in the Arsenal, those gentlemen are bent on returning the compliment by giving a supper to-night on board the vessel, to which the officers of the Sixty-ninth, representatives of the leading papers and many gentlemen of social and political prominence have been invited. The management of the affair has been placed in the hands of Col. Kelly. The Brazil is a staunch vessel, well built, well officered and well manned. She is intended for the East India trade, is admirably fitted up, but because of her propelling power being incommensurate either with her proportions or her capacity, she was put on the line between Brazil and Portugal. To fill a temporary want she was chartered for the present voyage by the managers of the Galway line, and, according to authoritative representations, will carry to Galway the largest freight-age ever conveyed by a single steamer to that port. Her commander ostensibly is Capt. DeCampos, as pleasant a gentleman as one would wish to meet; and her commander in fact, Capt. Campbell, is a gentleman whose courteous hospitality and manly qualities have won for him the unqualified regard of all who have had the pleasure of making his acquaintance.

Serious Casualties.—A number of women and children were gathering firewood on Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of some frame buildings which were in process of demolition in the rear of No. 91 Monroe-street, when, by the sudden falling of a wall, Richard McKeever, a lad, residing at No. 83 Monroe-street, was buried beneath the rubbish. He was speedily extricated, but it is believed that his injuries will result in his death.... On Saturday evening, James Schott and Robert H. Milligan were thrown from a wagon in which they were riding down Broadway near Fifty-second-street, in consequence of the vehicle having come into collision with a dirt cart. Mr. Schott suffered a fracture of the leg and other severe injuries. He was removed to his residence, No. 35 East Twenty-fifth-street.... One of the Eighth avenue Railroad cars passed over the limbs of a young man, whose name has not been ascertained, on Friday night, in College place, near Warren street, and crushed them in a terrible manner. The sufferer is supposed to have been lying insensible on the track, as he was not seen by the driver before the accident occurred.

Singular and Daring Robbery.—The attention of persons passing along Broadway about 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, was attracted to two men who had driven in a light wagon up to the curb-stone, opposite the gold pen store of Mr. O'Brien, No. 717 in that street, one of whom got out of the vehicle and sprang quickly in again, repeating the movement several times to the extreme astonishment of the lookers-on, who believed him to be a lunatic. The sequel showed that this practice was to insure the success of a plan that he had formed to obtain a nugget of gold, valued at $500, which for some time past had been exhibited in the window, for at the first favorable opportunity he darted toward it, dashed his fist through the glass, seized the nugget and regained the wagon which was driven quickly off up Broadway, and so far the police have failed to learn anything of the thieves. Mr. O'Brien, as soon as he regained his presence of mind, darted in pursuit, but had not gone far before he fell down in a fainting fit, the result of the excitement and a recent illness from the effects of which he had not entirely recovered.

Fourth of July in Advance.—Wall-street was startled from its Sabbath stillness yesterday morning, and the echoes awakened among the tall warehouses in the vicinity, by the cracking, popping and whizzing of a hogshead of Chinese fire-crackers, which had been carelessly left in front of the auction-store of Gerard & Betts, No. 106 Wall-street. The awning of the store and also of that adjoining took fire in consequence of the explosion, but through the exertions of Sergeant Cherry and Officer Thompson, of the First Precinct, no other damage was done, and the speedy appearance of a hose-cart soon smothered the Celestial detonators into silence. Divers ragged lads, who were observed at a safe distance enjoying the sport, are believed to have caused it.

Returning to Bad Habits.—The City streets yesterday afforded a marked contrast, in good order, to that which has been apparent on the four preceding Sabbaths. Liquor stores in many instances were publicly open, drunken men staggered in every street, and the recent spasmodic effort of the Police Commissioner to enforce the Sunday law, like the many that have been heretofore made, seemingly had had its day.

Dr. Doy of Kansas.—In compliance with the wishes of his friends, Dr. Doy will repeat this evening his narrative of the trials and sufferings of the Free State men in Kansas during the struggle to exclude Slavery from the Territory, with particulars of his own arrest, imprisonment and rescue from a Missouri prison. Mr. Geo. W. Clark, known as the Liberty Vocalist, will exert his vocal powers on the occasion.

Police Commissioners.—A meeting of the Police Commissioners was held on Saturday. The report of the Sanitary Department was received and disposed of by being ordered on file. Wm. G. M. Reed was appointed a patrolman in Brooklyn. Beyond this no further information as to the proceedings of the Commissioners was allowed to transpire.

For Europe.—The steamship City of Washington, Capt. Jeffrey, left this port on Saturday for Liverpool with 284 passengers, (150 being in the steerage,) and $482,000 in specie. The steamer Illinois, Capt Griffin, left for Southampton and Havre with 193 passengers, and $563,829 in specie.

Fires.

IN A CARPENTER'S SHOP AND DWELLING-HOUSES—TWO HORSES BURNED.

About 3½ o'clock yesterday morning, the three-story frame building in the rear of No. 258 West Thirty-third-street, owned by John Ogden, and occupied as a carpenter's shop by Samuel Mandeville, was discovered on fire, and before the flames could be extinguished about $500 damage was done to the house and $1,000 to the stock and tools, upon neither of which was any insurance. Two horses, valued at $200 each, were burned to death—one of the animals having been owned by Mr. Mandeville and the other by Mr. Van Northwick. The fire communicated to two frame buildings in the rear of Nos. 251 and 253 West Thirty second street, belonging to Mr. Ohl, and occupied as tenement houses, the families in which lost all their furniture by fire and water. The damage to the buildings will reach about $800, but it is fully covered by insurance.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

Items.—The house occupied by Mr. Cane, at No. 221 Court-street, was entered by thieves Saturday, who carried away two watches, chains, &c., valued in all at $125.... The thirty-first anniversary of the Brooklyn Sociable School Union will be celebrated to-morrow, weather permitting. In case of a storm, the celebration will be postponed until the first fair day. The schools will be divided into two divisions—Eastern and Western. The former will march in procession through Clinton-avenue, between Gates and Myrtle avenues. The latter will march on Remsen, Clinton, Pierrepont and Hicks streets. The annual meeting of the Union will be held in Plymouth Church Tuesday evening, when there will be singing by a choir of Sabbath-school scholars, and addresses by different clergymen..... The Sunday Liquor-law was generally observed in this city yesterday.... Two men were arrested in this city on Saturday for passing counterfeit $5 bills on the Mercantile Bank of Hartford, Conn. They were committed for trial.... Mary J. Collins, (colored,) residing in Seventh-street, E. D., on Friday night last attempted to split her husband's head open with an axe. She was arrested and committed to await the result of the injuries..... A meeting of tax-payers is called for this evening, at the City Hall, to adopt such measures as may be deemed necessary to stay proceedings for the enforcement of the laws recently passed by the Legislature, laying out a park and several avenues, to be paid for by tax on property within the Western Fire District.... Two hundred and seventy six children have been vaccinated in the Williamsburgh Dispensary since the 1st inst.

Mortality.—Dr. Jones, Health Officer, reports 98 deaths as having occurred during the week ending Saturday last. Of the number there were 10 deaths each by consumption and convulsions, (infantile,) 13 by fevers, 3 by small-pox, and 1 from old age. The deaths are classified as follows: Men, 17; women, 23; boys, 39; girls, 19. Adults, 40; children, 58. Males, 56; females, 42. Colored persons, 1. 46 of those who died were under 5 years of age, and 68 of the whole number were natives of the United States.

The Mexican Prize Steamer.—A private letter from New-Orleans, written by a gentleman well-informed on the subject, states as a fact which has lately transpired in connection with the history of the Spanish vessels captured at Vera Cruz, that one of them was fitted for the Slave-trade, with all the appliances and provisions on board for a voyage to the coast of Africa, and that it was the intention, as soon as the terms of the charter to Vera Cruz had been fulfilled, to have sailed direct for the Congo River, taking on board a cargo of slaves, and returning to Cuba.

ALL THAT IT CLAIMS TO BE.—So many compounds for the hair are offered for sale and uniformly praised that we confess we had no expectation of finding in BURNETT'S COCOAINE, the qualities which it was said to possess. In this we have been disappointed. Members of our family who have tried it induce us [illegible] possessing superior hair-dressing properties, while its freedom from greasiness, the lustre it imparts to the hair, and its economy, have given it a permanent place on the toilet table. We have no hesitancy in recommending it as being equal to all that it claims to be.—Chicago New Covenant.

NEW BOOKS.

ANOTHER NEW NOVEL OF MARKED POWER AND ABSORBING INTEREST.
UNIFORM IN STYLE AND PRICE WITH "BEULAH."
NOW READY:
RUTLEDGE.
One handsome 12mo. $1 25.

The Publishers, in offering to the public another Novel, by a young and talented Authoress, bespeak a favorable reception solely upon its merits, believing, as they do, that sooner or later it will become popular with all classes of readers.

RUTLEDGE

Is one of the few Novels, of the many annually issued from the Press, that is destined to more than a temporary success. It is not only well written, but portrays life and character with the hand of a master. The Publishers confidently commend it to their friends and patrons.

From the New-York Evening Post.

Three good novels have been issued this Spring. Two of them English. The third novel to which we refer is, strange to say, an American novel. Commonly, American novels are very dull, very untrue, and very crude; but "Rutledge" is an exception. It is animated, truthful, and full of originality and thought. Both town and country are described with rare power of observation and skill. If we mistake not, this work is DESTINED TO PRODUCE AN UNUSUAL SENSATION, and the author may congratulate himself (or herself, for we suspect the writer to be a woman,) on a most successful beginning of a literary career.

MEDICAL.

OAK ORCHARD ACID SPRINGS.
These Springs are situated in the valley of the Oak Orchard Creek, in the town of Alabama, Genesee Co., N. Y., eight miles south of the village of Medina, on the Erie Canal and fourteen miles from Batavia.
The principal Acid Springs are three in number; besides these there are six others. They are all located within a circuit of about fifty rods. The medicinal qualities of the waters are fully shown in the subjoined testimonials. They contain a very large amount of Sulphur, Sulphuric Acid, Sulphate of Lime, and Proto-Sulphate of Iron. The great medicinal virtues possessed by the waters depend very largely upon the presence, in such unusual quantities, of these curative substances.
Hundreds of cases of disease, especially those resulting from the scrofulous diathesis, have been cured by their use.
In skin diseases—even in confirmed leprosy—the waters have been signally successful.
Opinions of medical and scientific gentlemen are given in the circulars. The following eminent gentlemen speak in strong terms of the medicinal value of these waters:—Prof. EMMONS, T. ROMEYN BECK, M. D., of Albany; JAS. MCNAUGHTON, M. D., of Albany; EDWARD SPRING, M. D., of New York; Dr. R. CAMPBELL, of Pittsfield, Mass.; Dr. J. S. SHULER, of Lockport, N. Y. They recommend the waters confidently. Dr. Spring refers to a case of chronic diarrhea of several years' standing, which was cured by the use of the water. Dr. Beck says: "I am satisfied that these waters are highly valuable as medicinal agents." Dr. Campbell says: "They must be highly beneficial for all chronic diseases of the stomach and bowels."
Dr. S. P. WHITE read a paper on the subject of these Waters, before the Academy of Physicians, in the City of New-York, in which he states that the Waters possess decidedly tonic, refrigerant and astringent properties; and that the class of diseases to which they are more particularly adapted are: Chronic affections of the digestive and urinary organs, and some of the cutaneous diseases; chronic dyspepsia; chronic diarrhœa; chronic dysentery; chronic diuresis, chronic cystitis; diabetes; cases of passive hemorrhage, such as Purpura hemorrhagica, and the colliquative sweats of Hectic Fever. The Water may also be often used with advantage, he says, in cases of low typhoid fevers; in convalescence from protracted fevers, to excite the appetite and promote digestion; in diarrhœas, particularly such as are dependent on a relaxed or ulcerated state of the mucous membrane of the intestines. In calculous affections or lithiasis, attended with phosphatic sediments, it is the suitable remedy, being preferable to muriatic acid, as being more solvent, and less apt, by continued use, to disorder the stomach. In febrile diseases it can be used, properly diluted, as a refrigerant to diminish thirst and preternatural heat. In skin diseases—in those forms of dyspepsia connected with an alkaline condition of the stomach, as in pyrosis, or water-brash, it will prove better than hydrochloric acid. In cases of Colica pictonum, and other injurious consequences arising from the action of lead, this water will prove to be an admirable antidote. In chronic pharyngitis, laryngitis, chronic mucous catarrh, and humid asthma, chronic ophthalmia, (externally,) as a gargle in ulcerated sore throats, in cases of salivation, and in leucorrhœa and gleet; and also in piles.
When taken internally, a wine-glassful of the Water, diluted, taken three times a day, is sufficient for an adult.
Other testimonials from physicians, and other respectable individuals, may be seen on application to the Agent.
Dealers supplied on liberal terms.
No Water genuine unless procured from

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORTUNATE are disappointed of a cure by not calling on Dr. HUNTER at first. The Hunterian Dispensary, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, established in 1834, for the Preservation of Human Life. PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. Hunter has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures, in new cases, in less than six hours. It roots out the poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb, unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing, that treats of the evil effects of early abuse and indulgence, is embellished with elaborate colored engravings, portraying every feature and phase of disease, exposes the fallacy of the ordinary modes adopted for the cure of local as well as hereditary maladies, and gives the only safe and infallible remedy for expunging every trace of the virus from the system.

NOTICES FROM THE PRESS:

Little Martha Davis—who is she? One of the sweetest little singers that ever charmed the ears of an admiring public. She is the daughter of a deceased clergyman, a vocalist of rare excellence, who has sung for the benefit of many Sunday-Schools.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Academy of Music was filled last evening by an audience estimated to number over four thousand. "Oh, I'll be a good child indeed I will" by Martha Davies, whose voice filled every part of the house, was much applauded.—New-York Times.

Little Martha Davis was called out and sang, "Though I'm but a little maiden" or "God's so good to me," which brought down thunders of applause.—New-York Tribune.

The little girl displayed vocal powers and a degree of cultivation so far beyond her years as to be almost a prodigy.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The singing of little Martha was the signal for the most tremendous outburst of hearty applause, and she really merited all she received. The concert was a success, and, should the performers come again we would advise every one to go and hear little Martha.—Courier and Advertiser, Jersey City.

To little Martha Davies we give the palm for her "Willie Gray, or answer to Kitty Clyde." She is a little child. Her burlesque sighs were admirable.—Brooklyn Daily Times.

Little Alonzo, the humorous vocalist of the troupe, is a host in himself.—Poughkeepsie Daily Press.

TRANSATLANTIC NEWS.

with the promise of a large reward for his capture.

PROGRESS OF THE INSURRECTION.

The Piedmontese Gazette contains the following, dated—

PALERMO, Thursday, May 3.

The inhabitants are reopening their shops. The agitation is diminishing. The Lieutenant-General has published a proclamation declaring the town to be no longer in a state of siege.

The Opinione, under date May 2, says: "The insurrectionary movement is spreading throughout the Island, and is spontaneous and general. The Royal troops are in possession of the towns, and are blockaded between the sea and the insurrection in the interior."

MARSEILLES, Monday, May 4.

Advices from Naples state that the export duty on oil has been increased two ducats per cantaro, which is almost equivalent to a prohibition.

VIENNA, Monday, May 5.

According to official intelligence from Naples to the 4th, tranquillity had been restored throughout Sicily.

No news has been received from Sicily for a week. It is believed that the insurrection still continues on the coast and the interior of the Island. Serious apprehensions are entertained as to the state of affairs in Sicily. It is not the Count of SYRACUSE, but his Secretary, who has been exiled.

Telegraph lines are interrupted. Neither Government nor merchant steamers have arrived from Sicily for a week.

PROCLAMATION OF MAZZINI.

The following is the text of the proclamation addressed by MAZZINI to the Sicilians:

SICILIANS: When I, almost 30 years ago, inscribed on the banners of young Italy the word "Unity;" when I said that a popular insurrection might expel Austria from Lombardy, and overthrow the thrones of the despots of Florence, Rome and Naples, men laughed at me for thinking of impossible dreams, and declared, as a Utopian scheme, what is now the most ardent wish of every Italian—the political unity of that Peninsula. Facts have justified my assertions; the revolutions of 1848 have proved that not a throne, even when supported by foreign bayonets, could stand against the will of the people; the events which have taken place in Italy during the last twelve months clearly show that unity will be no longer a dream, but a reality, when the people who still groan in chains give a strong and fresh impulse to events, and reassume a vigorous initiative. Sicilians! be you the first! and show that you have not degenerated since the days of your ancestors. Revolution is permanent in Sicily, says old Europe; let it once more gain the mastery, and this time will be the last. Let insurrection spread from one end to another of your island; fight like heroes and you will be victorious. The Government of the Bourbons having been broken down, we will proclaim that which Central Italy has already chosen;—the only one that can be called Italian, that of the brave and gallant King. Let us, therefore, inscribe on our banners the word "Annexation." Before being a Republican, I was in favor of unity, but it appeared to me that a republic alone could lead to it; I was mistaken. VICTOR EMANUEL has made Italy progress towards that object, and he will conduct her to it completely if the people assist him. I thus sacrifice my ideas to an old principle; with you, Sicilians, and with all the other people of the Italian Peninsula, who will henceforth form only one nation—with you I cry "Long live VICTOR EMANUEL, King of Italy!" Sicilians, the hour has struck! in the name of Italy to arms!

JOSEPH MAZZINI.

NORTHERN ITALY.

The result of the elections, which are known up to the present time, shows a considerable majority in favor of the Ministry. Gen. GARIBALDI has only obtained 30 votes at Turin, and LAURENTI only 14.

The Paris Constitutionnel has an article by its chief editor, M. GRANDGUILLOT, condemning the efforts which are being made to cause the fall of Count CAVOUR. It details the difficulties which have been successfully overcome by Piedmont, and points out the political importance which she has acquired with the consent of Europe. It extols the policy of Count CAVOUR, and condemns him for resisting the efforts of those who would exceed that policy. This article also clearly declares that Europe, and France particularly, will energetically disapprove aggression, and that the work of Piedmont is no longer to extend her boundaries, but to assimilate herself to the annexed Provinces.

STATE OF ROME.

One thousand Irishmen have left Trieste for Ancona in order to be enrolled in the Pontifical Army. Letters deny that M. DE CORCELLES has been appointed Minister, and state that he will soon return to France.

Notwithstanding the statements of the Sardinian journals that the French troops will have entirely evacuated the Papal States before the end of June, it is certain that the Duke DE GRAMONT, in accordance with instructions received from Paris, has declared to the Holy See that the French garrison will not leave the Papal territory until the Sovereign Pontiff himself shall have acknowledged that the departure of the French troops can take place without any danger to the tranquillity and safety of his States.

GERMANY.

THE PRUSSIAN CHAMBERS.

BERLIN, Saturday, May 5.

In yesterday's sitting of the Chamber of Deputies, during the discussion upon the affairs of Schleswig-Holstein, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, in reply to a question of M. VON BLOCKENBURG, said:

The Prussian Government does not coincide with the views of M. VON VINCKE, in reference to the Federal Diet. Prussia does not consider the organ of the German Confederation as merely existing, but as having a right to exist. In the same sitting the Minister for Foreign Affairs stated that questions had been addressed to him from two different quarters, as to whether an alliance already existed, or would be concluded under certain emergencies, between Prussia and Austria.

The Baron declared, in reply, that no such alliance existed.

MAY 6.—In yesterday's sitting the Minister of Finance, in introducing two projects of law with the view of obtaining from the Chamber a grant of extraordinary supplies for military purposes, said:

By these measures the provisional condition of the army, after the mobilization of last year, is to be maintained. Their execution requires a credit of 9,000,000 thalers for the Minister of War from the 1st May, 1860, to the 30th of June, 1861. In order to meet these expenses, the additional tax of 25 per cent. hitherto paid is to be continued until July 1, 1861, and the surplus from 1859 is to be used.

The Ministry for the present requests the Chamber to vote the said amount without requiring a special account; such an account will however be laid before the next Landtag. The State Reserve Fund of 12,000,000 thalers will remain untouched. The question whether the Landwehr is to be liable to two or three years' reserve duty is not considered in the present projects of law.

MISCELLANEOUS.

In reply to the proposals of France, England consents to adopt as the basis of the Conference Article 92 of the final Act of Vienna, which refers to the neutralization of the districts of Chablais and Faucigny. England reserves, however, the right of making at the said Conference proposals relative to the mode of this neutralization. This declaration of England is likely to increase the probabilities of the assembling of the proposed Conference.

The Atheneum says that Chevalier BUNSEN is going to leave Heidelberg, and will take up his future abode at Bonn, in order to pursue the literary labors he has in hand.

King LUDWIG will leave on the 15th for Vienna. It is believed that this journey of the aged Prince is not entirely without a political motive.

SWITZERLAND.

The Federal Council has again insisted upon the least possible delay in the assembling of a Conference.

The Cabinet of Turin has made a proposal to the Federal Council for the construction of a railway through Switzerland to connect Italy and Germany.

The operations for establishing the boundary line between France and Piedmont commenced on the 1st May.

The Federal Council has issued a fresh circular note, demonstrating the strategic importance of the neutralized provinces for the maintenance of the neutrality of Switzerland.

AUSTRALIA.

Advices from Melbourne are to March 17, Adelaide March 19, and Sydney, by telegraph, to March 16. At Melbourne, the Land bill was still under discussion. Respecting the gold fields, the Melbourne Herald says: "Accounts from the gold fields are not so encouraging as formerly; water is very scarce. There was a decline for the past month in the gold received by escort of 30,413 ounces, as compared with the corresponding month of 1859. The shipments of last month show a falling off of 32,518 ounces, as compared with the corresponding month in 1859, and of 113,6[illegible]7 ounces, as compared with the corresponding of 1858."

THE LATEST.

[BY TELEGRAPH FROM LONDON TO SOUTHAMPTON.]

BERLIN, Wednesday, May 9.

The military Committee of Deputies, in its sitting of yesterday, unanimously granted the supplies applied for by the Government, for placing the army upon a war footing.

Advices from Italy, received here, state that the French garrison remains at Rome, and will probably even be reinforced.

The treaty between Hanover and England will be prolonged after the 14th of May, but perhaps for a period of less than three months.

The Herald's Paris correspondent says: "With whom are we going to war next?" is the general question in French military circles. The camp at Chalons will consist of cavalry, infantry and artillery complete, amounting to 40,000 men, under Marshal MCMAHON, and will in reality be the centre of an army of observation for forming along the Rhine frontier, the right wing being echeloned from Besancon to Strasbourg, and the left wing from Erz to Luneville, the whole force amounting to 90,000 men, to be under the command-in-chief of the Emperor. The writer says the last year's events proved the source of this information to be reliable.

VIENNA, Wednesday.—The Wanderer of to-day says the Privy Councillor, Count APPONYI, has refused to become a member of the Council of State. The same is stated of Count BARKVBEY.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday, May 9.

The steamer Prince Albert arrived at Galway yesterday afternoon. It left New-York on the 26th ult., and St. Johns on the 1st inst. The late telegrams via St. Johns had not arrived.

The accounts from Aberdeen, to-day, (Monday,) state that the defalcations of JOHN BLAIKIE, the advocate who has lately absconded, will be about $200,000. At first it was feared they might be double that amount. He is stated to have obtained advances from the Union Bank of Scotland, to the extent of about £80,000, but they have numerous securities, and are not likely to lose more than £10,000 or £15,000. BLAIKIE is understood to be in Sweden.

The Times' City Article of May 8, says: "The funds opened on Monday without alteration, but were subsequently heavy on political rumors. The announcement of the Great Britain, with £190,000, and the intelligence of a decided rise in the rate of exchange at New-York, were calculated to exercise a favorable influence; but the adverse reports which were perseveringly circulated led to several speculative sales. The statements principally current were that the relations of Russia and Turkey were again assuming a bad aspect; that Prussia and Denmark are on the eve of a rupture on the Holstein question, and that Mr. GLADSTONE has found himself compelled to devise new financial expedients to meet the projected outlay for fortifications, and to prepare for future deficiences. The variety of these suggestions, however, seemed to furnish the best indication of their having been manufactured for speculative purposes.

The Daily News says: "According to advices from Australia, the estate of Messrs. E. J. WHEELER & Co., of London, who failed in January last, will not be materially prejudiced by the stoppage of their correspondents in Melbourne, Messrs. A. WILSON, NEPHEW & Co."

The Times' City article, May 9, says: "The English Funds opened this morning without recovery from the speculative depression of yesterday, and remained till the middle of the day, when the market assumed a general appearance of firmness, which was well maintained to the close."

Consols were quoted at the close at 95¾ for Money, and 95⅝@⅝ for the 6th of June. After regular hours there was a still stronger feeling. During the morning several realizations were effected by the public, which caused an increased demand for loans at 4 ⅌ cent., and the subsequent improvement seemed to arise chiefly from the transactions in connection with the settlement of the account, which takes place on the 9th of May. A considerable amount of Australian gold was taken to the Bank; but, on the other hand, there was a rather large shipment to Brazil.

The closing price from Paris failed to arrive. The last quotation received was 71f. 5c., showing a fractional recovery.

Foreign exchanges unaltered.

The amount of gold bought by the bank was £220,000.

LIVERPOOL CORN AND BREADSTUFFS MARKET, MAY 8.

The business done to-day was of the merest retail character. WHEAT, in the few sales made, realized Friday's rates, being 1d.@2d. ⅌ cental under those of this day week. INDIAN CORN was scarcely inquired for, and in the absence of business, it is difficult to give quotations, but prices may be considered about the same as on Friday; white American 37s @39s. ⅌ 480 lbs.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

BUFFALO, Friday, May 18, 1860.

Fourteen cars, laden with Methodist preachers and their wives—750 altogether—shot from the Western dépôt of the Central Railroad at 8¾ A. M. yesterday, glided along the green bank of Niagara River which, placid as a lake that beautiful May morning, seemed not to contemplate the fearful plunge that it was soon to make; passed Grand and Navy Islands, now covered with verdure; rattled by Fort Schlosser, within sight of the historic field of Chippewa, and clattered through the village of the Falls to the Suspension Bridge. Here the guests of the Central Railroad Company alighted and separated in pursuit of sublimity. Some crossed the bridge immediately, admiring as they went; strolled towards the Horse-shoe through Her Majesty's dominions; descended—clad in oil-cloth—beneath "the Sheet;" crossed in rowboats below the Falls—the timid consoled with the stereotyped solace of the boatmen, "Well, gen'lemen, if you get drow*ded* your money will be refunded back to you,"—clambered beneath the American Falls, climbed Biddle's stairs, and met those who had wandered in other directions at the International and Cataract at dinner-time. At the former hotel Niagara was glorified in after-dinner speeches by Rev. Messrs. HENRY SLICER, PETER CARTWRIGHT and "Father TAYLOR" of Boston. The post prandial exercises of those who dined at the latter house took place at Goat Island. There, on the bank above Terrapin tower and on the brink of the Falls, Rev. Messrs. KENNEDY, STINSON, CARTWRIGHT and MOODY mingled their voices with the roar of the cataract before a rapt hundred or two. The finger of God in Nature was their theme, and they preached eloquent sermons from the text before them.

At 6½ o'clock all were in the cars again, and in an hour afterwards were safely returned to Buffalo. Their delight with the excursion, and the cordial good treatment which they received from the railroad company, the hotel proprietors, and all whose paths they crossed—except the gentleman who owned the "female tiger," who would not forego his five cents apiece, even for the Ministers—was fully set forth in resolutions adopted at the Conference to-day. Nothing occurred to mar the occasion—everything had been so well arranged by Rev. Messrs. H. COLCLAZER, DUPUY and THOS. CARLTON, the Committee that did the business of the excursion.

St. James' Hall was crowded again to-day, and two-thirds of the spectators wore bonnets. The gallery was so thronged that a lady fainted in the early part of the proceedings. Bishop BAKER presided, and immediately after the preliminary exercises,

Rev. C. KINGSLY, of Erie, said if this was the proper time, he wished to make some explanations which, had he had time, he would have made Wednesday.

The order of business was suspended, and Mr. KINGSLY continued. By a mistake a clause had been left out of the chapter in the majority report, which should have read as it is found in the chapter as already printed. He called attention to the statement in the report of the minority that the action of the majority had been taken without due consideration of the memorials, journals and portions of the Episcopal address on Slavery referred to the Committee, and that information sought to be obtained had been excluded.

Mr. KINGSLY contended that the impression conveyed by the clause in question was an erroneous one, and he had been met everywhere in the street with inquiries as to how it was that the minority had been thus oppressed.

Rev. H. SLICER, of East Baltimore, objected to these remarks unless a reply from the minority was permitted.

Mr. KINGSLY would consent to that.

Rev. PENNELL COOMBE suggested that Mr. KINGSLY make a motion that the minority be instructed to amend its report. The minority wanted this matter brought forward here.

Rev. J. S. PORTER, of Newark, Chairman of the minority, did not believe in being instructed concerning the kind of report that should be submitted. Concerning the statement that the Episcopal address had not been read, he said the address had been freely talked of, and it was not necessary to read it. Further, he did not believe the Bishops themselves desired that their words should be held over the brethren as a rod of iron in everything they did.

Rev. S. Y. MONROE, of New-Jersey, did not think Mr. KINGSLY wished to misrepresent, but his statement was incorrect. Mr. MONROE was called to order, and

Mr. KINGSLY proceeded. He gave a detailed statement of the manner in which the routine business of the Committee had been conducted, to disprove the allegations of the minority.

Rev. N. J. B. MORGAN (Baltimore) said that one of Mr. KINGSLY's statements with regard to laying petitions on the table was untrue.

Mr. KINGSLY said the minority had been treated with all fairness and Christian kindness.

Dr. JAMES FLOY moved that the Conference proceed to the order of the day.

Rev. S. Y. MONROE (N. J.) said the action proposed by Dr. FLOY would be an act of oppression.

Rev. P. COOMBE (Philadelphia) demanded that the minority be heard. Let it be refused, said he.

Rev. Dr. D. CURRY (East New-York) would demand that the whole Committee be polled with regard to the truth of the Chairman's statements, if this thing went on.

Mr. COOMBE—Amen!

Mr. MONROE said there was no one who had so good reason to know what the statement of the minority meant as he. If Dr. KINGSLY had asked an explanation, the whole of this scene might have been spared. It was designed to state that, as the matter referred to the Committee had not been fully matured in the Committee, the Conference should pause before it acted in accordance with the majority report. Mr. KINGSLY did not deny that the Episcopal address had not been read in the Committee. He asked Mr. KINGSLY if he had not said that he had forgotten that the Episcopal address was referred to the Committee.

Mr. KINGSLY said he might have, but he had said that the address might still be brought before the Committee.

Mr. MONROE said it was not denied that the memorials had not been read in the Committee. It had been urged by one of the majority that if certain action was taken, the minority would make capital out of it. [Applause, and a call to order.] Mr. MONROE continued at some length, answering questions and making explanations. The minority, one excepted had asked the majority to defer its report till Friday, as the minority could not readily prepare its report before. The majority had unanimously refused, and the minority was very much pressed for time in consequence.

Rev. P. COOMBE, of Philadelphia, said he held in his hand minutes taken in the Committee.

Messrs. KINGSLY and CRAWFORD, of New-York, objected to the reading of any minutes except those of the Secretary.

Mr. COOMBE only designed to refresh his memory from minutes of his own taken in the Committee. He deemed it unfair that the memorials received had not been regularly presented from day to day before the Committee and classified. He had notified the majority that this matter must come before the Conference. The minority had asked for full information with regard to the petitions, and it had been denied.

Mr. COOMBE offered a resolution directing the Committee on Slavery to report the number of petitions from the bounds of each Conference, together with the number of votes received by each of the proposed new rules in each Annual Conference.

Rev. Dr. CURRY, of East New-York, said the strictest parliamentary law had not been enforced in the Committee, but there had been a full and pleasant conference with regard to the matters referred to it. Though he differed with the minority, he believed that its members were well-meaning, and he acquitted them of any design to make misstatements.

Mr. KINGSLY said the Committee intended to make a second report, containing all that the resolution called for. The latter was laid on the table.

Rev. Dr. A. M. OSBORN, of New-York, offered a resolution directing that after Monday the call for petitions be suspended.

Rev. H. SLICER, of East Baltimore, was in favor of the right of petition, and of giving the largest liberty to those who felt personally aggrieved. But most of the petitions presented had reference to Slavery, and the Committee on Slavery had hurried in its report and cut off a large portion of those who were still petitioning. If a Southern planter had treated a slave as the brethren had treated the brethren of the minority who had been compelled to sit up all night without anything to eat in order to get their report ready, there would have been a cry of indignation. He desired that it should be understood everywhere that the Methodist Church recognized the right of petition; but was it treating people right for the brethren to invite them to send in petitions after a premature report had been presented, and then carry their memorials about in their breeches pocket without attention? He moved that on Wednesday the call be suspended.

The whole matter was laid on the table.

Rev. GEO. PECK, (Wyoming,) from the Committee on Episcopacy, reported that the complaint of Rev. HIRAM MATTISON against Bishop AMES, for alleged mal-administration in the Philadelphia Conference, was not sustained. The Conference confirmed the report unanimously.

The Committee on Itinerancy reported in favor of passing a resolution declaring that in the trial of members, and in all appeals, the presiding officer should not deliver a charge explaining the evidence or setting forth the merits of the case. It was adopted.

The same Committee reported that in the case of WM. QUINN, the slaveholder whose character was passed by the Philadelphia Conference, the Discipline was not violated, but that it could not answer the inquiry, "Can slaveholders be class-leaders?" previously asked by resolution. The report was adopted and the Conference adjourned.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

BUFFALO, Saturday, May 19, 1860.

We have had a dismal, rainy day without, and, for the most part, a dull session within. The Olive branch presented by the minority was quietly sent to be printing-pressed for preservation. It was offered in accordance with an agreement made in Committee yesterday afternoon. It was asked as an act of Christian kindness that the specific charges against the majority, contained in the minority report, be expunged. The most interesting event of the day was the presentation of Bishop ASBURY's watch to Bishop MORRIS.

Bishop AMES presided. As soon as the minutes were read,

Rev. S. Y. MONROE desired a suspension of the rules, that he might present an olive branch from one section of the Committee on Slavery. The rules were suspended, and Mr. MONROE read a statement from the minority, consenting to an alteration of the conservative report. The general charge that the report of the majority was, in the opinion of the minority, made without due consideration of the documents referred to the Committee, remains in the report of the minority, but the specifications setting forth that the Episcopal addresses of this year, and of 1856, adverse to a change of rule, the journals of the Annual Conferences, the vote in each on the several proposed general rules, and the petitions, were not properly placed before the Committee, are stricken out. The minority declares that it had no design to charge the majority with injustice and oppression, and that for the sake of peace and harmony it removes the paragraphs objected to.

It was directed that the document be printed.

Bishop BAKER read the reply of the Bishops to the question whether more Bishops were required? They declare that they think they can, if they have health, perform the entire Episcopal work for the next four years, but that still they believe that one, or perhaps two more Bishops might be chosen with advantage. It was directed that the statement be printed.

Rev. WM. F. COWLES, of Iowa, wished to correct a statement in a secular (Buffalo) paper, that the Committee on Itinerancy had reported that the Philadelphia Conference had passed the character of a slaveholder, and in so doing had not violated the Discipline. Mr. QUINN was not a slaveholder, but his wife was, and it was because she would not consent to it that the slaves were not set free. He did not want it to go forth that the Methodist Church permitted a Conference to pass the character of a slaveholder. Still, he confessed, he was opposed to a man's living by slave labor, and then slipping off from responsibility under the hoops of his wife. [Laughter.]

Rev. P. COOMBE, (Phila.,) was opposed to any member of a committee making remarks impugning the truth of his own report.

Mr. COWLES had not voted for the report.

The following important resolution from the Committee on Itinerancy, as amended by the Conference, after a lengthy debate, was adopted:

Resolved, That when a preacher is transferred from one Conference to another his rights, privileges and responsibilities in the Conference to which he is transferred shall date from the date of his transfer, unless it be especially provided otherwise by the Bishop by whom the transfer is made; but it will not be lawful for him to vote twice on the same constitutional question, or be counted twice in the same year as the basis of the election of delegates to the General Conference, nor vote for delegates to any General Conference in any Conference where he is not counted as part of the basis of representation.

A protracted discussion arose upon a recommendation from the Committee on Itenerancy, that all pertaining to a supernumerary relation be stricken from the Discipline.

Rev. F. G. HIBBARD (E. Genesee,) supported the proposition, and ridiculed the pleas upon which strong men were wont to shrink from duty.

Rev. R. M. HATFIELD, (N. Y. East,) was opposed to it, but desired that the abuses of the system should be corrected.

The report was amended so as to leave in the Discipline the clause which declares that the General Conference shall not, except by a certain vote and the concurrence of the Annual Conferences, appropriate the produce of the Book Concern, nor of the Charter Fund, to any purpose other than for the benefit of the traveling, supernumerary, superannuated and worn-out preachers, their wives, widows and children. Thus amended, it was adopted—Ayes 113, Nays 85.

The Committee on Itinerancy reported a resolution, declaring that it is inexpedient to alter the Discipline so as to permit an extension of the term of ministerial service as a general rule, but providing that, after consultation with an Annual Conference, the presiding Bishop may appoint a member to the same charge for the third year. It was laid over.

On motion of Rev. CALVIN KINGSLY, Erie, the consideration of the reports of the Committee on Slavery were made the special order for Wednesday next. Mr. KINGSLY stated that the report with regard to the memorials on Slavery would probably be presented on Monday.

Rev. Mr. MORGAN, Mich'gan, was introduced to the Conference. He held in his hand an English silver watch, over a century old, which had been the property of Bishop ASBURY, and which the present owner, Mr. D'ORSAY, had requested him to present to the Senior Bishop MORRIS, with the request that the latter, at his death, would bequeath it to the next Senior Bishop, and that it might thus be the property of the Senior Bishop forever.

Bishop MORRIS said this was the first watch ever presented to him, (laughter,) but he would rather have it than the best railroad repeater. (Holding it to his ear,) I discover that its voice is feeble, like my own. Its main-spring, I understand, is broken. He expressed his thanks for the relic. When he departed he would leave it to the next Senior Bishop, and that would be very soon. He hoped that when he did go, he should meet its first owner in Heaven. [Applause.] The venerable Dr. NATHAN BANGS, who knew Bishop ASBURY, was called for, and said he drew from this occasion an augury for the continued one-ness of the Church. He told with what unction Bishop ASBURY had laid his hands on him, and hoped that the Senior Bishop might always carry with him as much weight. He (Dr. BANGS) was in the fifty-ninth year of his ministry, and the eighty second of his age, and could not hope long to remain here. He invoked the Divine blessing upon all.

Reports from the Committees on the Book Concern and Temporal Economy were presented and laid over. The quadrennial report of the Trustees of the Charter Fund was read, from which I extract the following:

Invested funds in 1856	$22,182 50
Invested funds in 1860	23,294 00
Increase	$1,111 50

The Conference adjourned at 12 o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY—OLD SCHOOL.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS—ORDER OF BUSINESS FOR THIS WEEK—REORGANIZATION OF THE DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

ROCHESTER, Friday, May 18, 1860.

The meeting this morning was opened with prayer, by Rev. Dr. HICKOCK.

The Permanent Clerk read the minutes of the last meeting and the roll of the Assembly.

The Moderator reported the various Standing Committees. Dr. B. M. SMITH, of Virginia, moved that a Committee of fifteen be appointed, to whom the overtures of the last Assembly on the subject of reorganizing the Boards of the Church be referred. After some little discussion it was carried.

Dr. KREBS submitted the following as the orders of the day, which were adopted: On Monday morning, Domestic Missions; Tuesday, Foreign Missions; Wednesday, Board of Education; Thursday, Board of Publication; Friday, Church Extension.

The sermons before these several Boards to be delivered on the evenings of the days the respective subjects are considered. The reports of the various Boards were submitted to the Assembly, and referred to the respective Committees.

Dr. SCOTT presented a memorial from the Presbytery at Chicago, on the Kankakee Colony, giving an account of the wonderful work of grace among the French colonists of that settlement. The subject was referred to a special Committee. The report of the Treasurer of the Association was referred to the Committee on Finance. A memorial was read by Mr. BLY, from MARY ANN RICHARDSON, on the subject of a donation to the New-Albany Theological Seminary of Indiana, and was referred to the Committee on Finance. The Moderator announced the Committee on Synodical Records.

Dr. BOARDMAN, of Philadelphia, presented the report of the Special Committee appointed by the last Assembly on the subject of the reorganization of the Board of Domestic Missions. Some of the Committee are in favor of a reduction of the number of the members of the Board, but no reconstruction was proposed. It was recommended that there should be but one Executive Committee, and that advisory committees be appointed in various parts of the country. The Committee suggested that but one Corresponding Secretary was needed, and that a Traveling Secretary should be appointed, who would have supervision of the work among feeble churches, receive funds, and take a general care of the interests of the Board in the field. Dr. BOARDMAN explained more fully the most important points of the report, and after an attempt to postpone its consideration, it was decided to take it up at once. The whole report was then reread by Dr. BOARDMAN. A long time was lost in discussion as to the manner in which the report should be considered. At the opening of the afternoon session, Dr. BOARDMAN presented an abstract of the report in a series of propositions. The first was finally taken up, namely, "That it is inexpedient to make any organic change in the Board of Education." Dr. SMITH, of Virginia, took the floor in opposition to the adoption of this proposition. He maintained that the present organization of our Boards was the result of that method of government which considers expediency rather than principle. It was the result of other than strictly Presbyterian principles, and was designed in the first place to checkmate the operations of the "American Boards." What was now actually accomplished was not the work of the large Boards, but only of a very small representation. He showed that the election of the members of the Board by the Assembly was often done in any but an intelligent manner, and that what was properly the work of the Assembly itself was put upon large Boards, which in the future might become a source of difficulty and danger.

Dr. SPRING, of New-York, replied in a few brief remarks to the arguments of Dr. SMITH, that the friends of the present system of Boards were as conscientious in regard to principle as any others. The great ecclesiastical principle was, whether the Boards should be appointed by, and be responsible to the General Assembly. This was the case, and thus the Boards were organized, in accordance with principle. As to their being large or small, was a matter of expediency. He deprecated dissension on this matter, which was one of the spiritual cords that bound the Church, and in these days of apprehension, the land, together. Much emotion was manifested by the Assembly at the conclusion of these remarks. Several others joined in the discussion, when it was interrupted by the report of the Committee on Devotional Exercises, recommending to the Assembly appointments for preaching during the week, and on the coming Sabbath, in churches of various denominations in this city and neighborhood. Dr. THORNWELL, of South Carolina, continued the discussion with great power, defining the nature of the Church, and claiming that the divine authority of its officers and members require them, in their church capacity, to perform every duty required by God, and that it is wrong to delegate that duty to any coördinate body, Society or Board. This is the fundamental principle that divides our minds in this discussion, and we must look it fairly in the face, and have the courage to do what the Head of the Church requires at our hands. After prayer by Dr. APGER, the meeting adjourned.

NEW SCHOOL GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

PITTSBURGH, Sunday, May 20.

The General Assembly heard the report of the Church Erection Committee this morning. Every application for aid by loan or donation has been granted, and the fund increased to $109,000.

The Assembly and Reformed Presbyterian Synod held a union prayer meeting an hour and a half.

SERMON ON POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

REV. J. R. SLOANE ON THE DEGRADATION OF POLITICAL PARTIES.

The Twenty-third-street Presbyterian Church was about filled last evening on the occasion of the sermon, by Rev. J. R. SLOANE, on "Political Corruption."

Mr. SLOANE considered that it was the duty of the pulpit to attack and destroy the works of the devil, and to act as a moral instructor. He held that our whole political body is diseased with the loathsome leprosy of political rascality. He alluded to the venality of the last Legislature, the defalcation of FOWLER in illustration. In elucidating his further remark that the evil had extended on all sides, he declared that the only political party that had any claims to morality (the Republicans,) acted upon the principle of "success first, principle afterwards." Why not leave this cess-pools of corruption to be quiet? Because their evils were extending and perverting all classes, and affecting our children. What was the cause of all this? The total depravity of our race was the principal causes. No stronger proof of the depravity of man could be adduced than the progress of nations—they rise with sterling virtue, and then fall with the enervating influences of debauchery and other crimes. Men are liable to sin in proportion to the temptation and possibility of escaping punishment. In a nation the individuality seems to be lost, and men acting in masses seem to think they are more likely to escape. Therefore, the worst crimes are committed by men in their national capacity. If we as a nation refuse to put restraints on our national iniquity, then are we individually responsible. Our national compact is in the face of God's law because it provides that no religious test shall be applied, meaning practically that we shall put no questions as to the moral and religious opinions so far as regarded his peculiar form of religion, but he objected to that blind devotion to party, which would "vote for the nominee though he be the devil incarnate." He believed that political liars were as bad as any other liars, and deplored the prevalence of untruths in political speeches. Places of power and trust were as much bought here as ever they were anywhere. A poor, honest man could rarely have place. He charged that with regard to their personal public utterances, those men who are placed as teachers of morality, have been recreant to their trust, and have become demoralized. They who claim that the pulpit has nothing to do with politics, could not utter a greater falsehood. After alluding to the recent address before the Old Dominion Society, he quoted the toast to the clergy on the occasion, and the sentiment that "the sole business of the clergy in the pulpit was to preach Christ and him crucified," meaning that the clergy had no right to preach about politics. He wondered that a man could be found to respond to such a sentiment. The pastor of the Brick Church might better have never preached again in the Brick Church than to have endorsed such a sentiment. Was it strange that we had political corruption when pastors acted in this way? The universality of politics in that event would make us tend to universal corruption. Our children would imitate the politicians who rise to place and power by violating principles of sight and justice. It was known that DANIEL WEBSTER's moral character was not good. To hold him up as a saint would be to canonize political profligacy. These corrupt politicians take hold of our educational institutions, and prevent the reading of the Bible in the schools or the making of it a text book. Can a nation avoid perdition and national disaster while entrusting its affairs to profligates and criminals? No it could not. The wrath of God would inevitably be visited. When the time came the judgment would fall even as it did when the prophetic handwriting appeared upon the wall, "mene mene tekel upharsin." But, could we yet be saved? Yes, by a reformation that should amount to a revelation. We should recognize that we are a Christian people, with a Christian Bible and Sabbath. We must get rid of Slavery, and rouse the people to put the affairs of our nation in the hands of men loving God, fearing truth, and hating covetousness.

The text was in Psalm xii, 8, "The wicked walk on every side, when the vilest men are exalted."

THE RIGHTS OF CONSCIENCE.

A SERMON BY DR. CHEEVER.

Last evening Dr. CHEEVER delivered a discourse to a large congregation in his own church, on the "Rights of conscience towards God in the people of the United States, and the violation of that right in the illegal imprisonment of Mr. HYATT by the United States Senate." Before commencing his discourse he announced that on next Sunday evening he would speak of the relation of the Church to the Society, and assert the entire independence of the Church of the Society. He took for his text the 12th verse of the 16th chapter of Luke—"And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own?" Speaking of the importance of faith in God, he said it was as necessary to a nation as to an individual, to save from wrong and oppression. And, when a Government persisted in doing wrong, he held that it should be overturned—the rule of action in all such cases should be revolution. The law of God was the foundation of all just law, and a violation of His law by a nation, was just as sure to bring punishment as when the violation was by an individual. Thereupon the nation that looked upon man-stealing as law and righteousness, would surely come to punishment. The piety of a nation that judged of manhood by the color of the skin, was not even skin deep, while its wickedness reached to the bone. Against such a nation, and against bad laws, he considered it to be the duty of the minister to preach. It was his duty to preach God's law against bad laws. Coming to speak more directly to the case of THADDEUS HYATT, he said Mr. HYATT's conscience would not let him answer such questions as a Committee of the United States Senate chose to ask him; and that his declaration of a conscience towards God caused contempt and rage. He was declared in contempt and thrown into prison, because he dared to place conscience before God higher than a Senatorial Committee with power. The speaker, in continuation, over and over again, said that it was nothing but the association of a conscience toward God that caused Mr. HYATT to be imprisoned; that there was no other charge brought against him, and that for that, and that alone, he was cast into a filthy dungeon—simply because he spoke of a conscience toward GOD, and denied that the Senate had any of the attributes of GOD. Thus was Mr. HYATT imprisoned without law; and he, repeating what he remarked at the Cooper Institute meeting, held that the people were bound to go to Washington and, in the name of GOD, take Mr. HYATT out of prison.

A NEW FEATURE OF THE UP-TOWN MOVEMENT.—Many of our first-class firms, that were on Broadway in the neighborhood of the Park and Hospital, have found it advantageous to move further up, even in the vicinity of the Metropolitan Hotel and above. Others from down town are moving above the Park. We notice the removal of Messrs. CAHILL & WOOD, successors to S. CAHILL, from their old-established stand No. 377 Broadway, to No. 627 Broadway, between Houston and Bleecker streets, where they are now prepared with a new and elegant assorted stock of boots and shoes to receive their customers, friends and the public.
